CIRCULAR NO. ...07.../2017

Union Government and State Government have created certain statutory Offices for overseeing the welfare of women, minorities, Schedule Caste, Schedule Tribe, children, backward caste and other underprivileged sections of society. These institutions have a definite role to play in protecting the rights of the citizens of these defined groups and these institutions have certain rights and privileges. These rights and privileges need to be respected in right earnest.

For this, it can summon Govt. and Police officers as well as citizens and can also issue directions to various Govt. Departments, Police and other citizens for the welfare and protection of the rights of women. These powers are given as per Meghalaya State Commission for Women Act, 2005.

3. Section II of Meghalaya State Commission for Women Act 2005, under the chapter "Powers of the Commission" provides that "any proceeding before the Commission shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code (Central Act 45 of 1860) and the Commission shall be deemed to be a court for the purpose of section 195 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 (Central Act 2 of 1974)".
