Prosecution of Cases

(Rules 8 to 22)

8. Prosecution of non-cognizable cases and cases under Section 353, Indian Penal Code.

Although Section 24 of the Police Act (Act V 1861), empowers a police officer to lay any information before a Magistrate and to apply for any legal process as may by law issue against any person committing an offence, prosecution for non-cognizable offences, or for an offence under Sec. 353, I. P. C., when the public servant assaulted a police officer, must not be instituted, as a rule, without the previous permission of a Superintendent of Police. The court officer will report to the Superintendent of Police, whenever a police officer institutes a noncognizable case without authority.

NOTES

Section 353 of Indian Penal Code deals with the offence of assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty and the punishment prescribed in imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both. The ingredients of this section are:

- (1) The person assaulted was a public servant.
- (2) Who was acting in exercise of his duties as such public servant was-
 - (i) intended to prevent or deter him from discharging his duty as a public servant; or
 - (ii) used as a consequence of anything done or attempted to be done by the said public servant in lawful exercise of his duties as such public servant.

Mere objection or protest does not fall within the expression "prevent or deter", as held in AIR 1953 Mad 963 (Ganapathi), Resistance and assault in self defence is no offence, AIR 1959 Bom 284 (Devaraman Shamji). No sanction is required to for the offence under this section, AIR 1967 SC 170 (Chandrika Rao). Acting in discharge of public duty in an essence of the offence. It must be proved that the accused assaulted or used criminal force to a public servant acting in discharge of his public duty, AIR 1954 MB 33 (Kesho Rao). Mere use of force is not enough to bring an act within the terms of this section. It has further to be shown that force was used intentionally to any person without that person's consent in order to commit an offence or with the intention or with the knowledge that the use of force will cause injury, fear or annoyance to the person against whom force is used, AIR 1967 SC 170 (Chandrika Rao).

9. Cases against police officers to be reported to the superintendent of police.

Whenever a complaint, cognizable or non-cognizable, is made against a police officer, the court officer will immediately send to the Superintendent of Police direct a copy of the complaint together with a copy of the order passed by the Magistrate thereon. The report of any judicial enquiry held, the result of each day's hearing and the final orders of the court when the case is proceeded with, will similarly be sent to the Superintendent of Police (see rules in Parts II and III resubmission or special reports in cases against the police and procedure for police officer's defence respectively). Should the complaint be lodged at a sub-divisional headquarters, the court officer will send copies also to the sub-divisional police officer.

10. Prosecution of cases instituted by Government officers.

When a prosecution is instituted by a Government officer and the charge is of a cognizable offence, the prosecution will ordinarily be conducted by the police.

11. Report of criminal charges against ex-reformatory school boys.

Court officers will report to the Superintendent of Police all cases in which ex-reformatory school boys are concerned, but which do not result in their imprisonment, e.g., cases in which a sentence of whipping is inflicted or where the benefit of the doubt is given, or cases in which the evidence is insufficient for conviction. When an ex-reformatory school boy is bound down under the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code the fact will be similarly reported.

12. Prosecution of police officers under Act V of 1861.

No prosecution of a police officer under Section 29 of the Police Act (Act V 1861), may be instituted except under orders of the District Magistrate or Superintendent of Police. The court officer will be responsible for the prosecution of such cases.

13. Prosecution of bad livelihood and gang cases.

- (I) Cases under Section 109, Criminal Procedure Code -

The court officer on receipt of an accused person arrested under Section 55, Criminal Procedure Code, with a view to proceedings under Section 109 of that Code must at once adduce before the Magistrate evidence to prove the circumstances which justified the arrest. It is to be observed that this evidence, if believed is sufficient to justify the initiation of proceedings and no more evidence is essentially necessary for this purpose. It will however be the duty of the court officer to see that there is no delay in producing further evidence required to prove identity and the character or antecedents of the accused person, etc. The examination of witnesses to prove the reasons for the arrest must not, however, be delayed pending enquires on these points.

(II) Cases under Section 110, Cr. P. C.-

- (a) In the report for proceedings under Section 110, Criminal Procedure Code no more should be stated than what the prosecution propose to endeavour to prove. Before trial a note shall be prepared for the use of the prosecuting officer of the evidence obtainable from records and to be given by each witness, and this evidence should be grouped, so far as circumstances permit, according as it relates to prevalence of crime, suspicion in particular cases, movements under surveillance, association free living without apparent means of livelihood, general repute' or any other facts it is proposed to prove.
- (b) In the case of bad livelihood proceedings against gangs, it is essential that the evidence should not only be generally arranged in the manner described in clause (a), but it should also be clearly stated and briefed as against each individual accused.
- (c) When the case comes up for trial, the first witness called should be the investigating officer, who should give a straight forward account of the reasons for and history of the enquiry against the accused in order to show the court that a fair and painstaking endeavour has been made to ascertain the criminals responsible before proceedings were instituted. The police station records should be produced, and the evidence available from them described, followed by any facts ascertained in the course of enquiry to which the investigating officer can depose.
- (d) The court should then be informed of the different points it is proposed to establish against the accused, and the witnesses should be called in groups so far as possible, in a corresponding sequence.

(III) Gang cases –

The prosecution of gang cases both in the Magistrate's court and the Sessions court will be placed in the hands of the public prosecutor. Ordinarily all officers who took part in the investigation must be cited as witnesses and examined at an early stage of the proceedings in order to give the court an idea as to how the case started and how the evidence was collected and sifted.

NOTES

Sections 109 and 110 of the Criminal Procedure Code read as follows:-

- "109. Security for good behaviour from suspected persons - When (an Executive Magistrate) receives information that there is within his local jurisdiction a person taking precautions to conceal his presence and that there is reason to believe that he is doing so with a view to committing a cognizable offence, the Magistrate may, in the manner hereinafter provided, require such person to show cause why he should not be ordered to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for his good behaviour for such period, not exceeding one year, as the Magistrate thinks fit."
- "110. Security for good behaviour from habitual offenders -When (an Executive Magistrate) receives information that there ill within his local jurisdiction a person who-
- (a) is by habit a robber, house-breaker, thief, or forger, or
 - (b) is by habit a receiver of stolen property knowing the same to have been stolen, or
 - (c) habitually protects or harbours thieves, or aids in the, concealment or disposal of stolen property, or
 - (d) habitually commits, or attempts to commit or abets the commission of, the offence of kidnapping: abduction, extortion, cheating or mischief, or any offence punishable under Chapter XII of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), or under Section 489-A, Section 489-B, Section 489-C or Section 489-D of that Code, or
 - (e) habitually commits, or attempts to commit, or abets the commission of, offences, involving a breach of the peace, or
 - (f) habitually commits, or attempts to commit, or abets the commission of –
 - (i) any offence under one or more of the following Acts, namely:-

- a) the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, 1940 (23 of 1940);
 - b) the Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1973 (46 of 1973);
 - c) the Employees' Provident Fund (and Family Pension Fund) Act, 1952 (19 of 1952);
 - d) the prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 (37 of 1954);
 - e) the Essential Commodities Act, 1955 (22 of 1955);
 - f) the Untouchability (Offences) Act, 1955 (22 of 1955);
 - g) the Customs Act, 1962 (52 of 1962) or
- (ii) any offence punishable under any other law providing for the prevention of hoarding or profiteering or of adulteration of food or drugs or of corruption, or
- (g) is so desperate and dangerous as to render his being at large without security hazardous to the community, such Magistrate may, in the manner hereinafter provided, require such person to show cause why he should be ordered to execute a bond, with sureties, for his good behaviour for such period, not exceeding three years, as the Magistrate thinks fit."

See also decision in Gopalanachari v. State of Kerala, 1980 Supp SCC 649, where it was laid down that the Constitutional survival of Section 110 certainly depends on its obedience to Article 21. Words of wide import, vague amplitude and far too generated to be safe in the hands of the police cannot be constitutionalised in the context of Article 21 unless read down to be as a fair and reasonable legislation with reverence to human rights. A glance at Section 110 shows that only a narrow signification can be attached to the words in clauses (a) to (g), "by habit a robber _____", "by habit a receiver of stolen property _____", "habitually protects or harbours thieves _____", "habitually commits or attempts to commit or abets the commission of _____" ", "is so desperate and dangerous as to render his being at large without security hazardous to the community". These expressions, when they become part of the preventive chapter with potential for deprivation of a man's personal freedom upto a period of three years, must be scrutinised by the court closely and anxiously. The poor are picked up or brought up, habitual witnesses swear away their freedom and courts ritualistically commit them to prison and Article 21 is for them a freedom under total eclipse in practice.

As observed by Krishna Iyer, J –

"Section 110 cannot be permitted in our free Republic to pick up the homeless and the have notes as it did when under British subjection because to-day to be poor is not a crime in this country. George Bernard Shaw, though Ignorant of Section 110, did sardonically comment that-the greatest of evils and the worst of crimes is poverty."

To call a man dangerous is itself dangerous; to call a man desperate is to affix a desparte adjective to stigmatise a person as hazardous to the community is itself a judicial hazard unless compulsive testimony carrying credence is abundantly available. A sociologist may pardonably take the view that it is the poor man, the man without political clout, the person without economic stamine, who is practice gets caught in the coils of Section 110 of the Code, although the courts cannot subscribe to any such proposition on mere assertion without copious Substantiation. Even so, the court cannot be unmindful of social realities and be careful to require strict proof when personal liberty may possibly be the casuality. After all, the judicial process must not fail functionally as the protector of personal liberty.

Further observed by Justice Kirshna Iyer (the then):

"We expect any government which has any regard for human rights not to use Section 110 of the Code, torture-some fashion against the weak and the poor merely because they belong to the "have-not" class and can be easily apprehended as "habitual" this or that or dangerous or desperate."

Under Section 55 of the Old Code corresponding to Section 41 (2) of the 1973 Code, any officer in charge of a police station may, arrest or cause to be arrested any person, belonging to one or more of the categories of persons specified in Section 109 or Section 110 of Criminal Procedure Code.

(a) Section 106, Cr. P. C., lays down the offences for which an order for security to keep the peace may be passed on conviction. Court officers are specially enjoined to see that in all such cases in which the cause of friction is likely to recur and on particular in cases of riot arising from a dispute about land, an application is made to the Magistrate for an order under Section 106, Cr. P. C., binding down the persons convicted.

(b) The court officer should move the court for an order under Section 565, Cr. P. C., in the case of all offenders who have been previously convicted of an offence punishable under Sections 215, 489-A, 489-B, 489-C or 489-D of the Indian Penal Code, or of any offence punishable under Chapters XII and XVII of that code with imprisonment for three years or upwards Such previous conviction or convictions must first be established to the satisfaction of the court and set out in the charge as required by Section 221, clause (vii), Cr, P. C.

Section 221 of Criminal Procedure Code as referred to in this rule dealing with contents of charge, corresponds to Section 211 of the Code of 1973 and read as follows:-

- "211. Contents of charge - (1) Every charge under this Code shall state the offence with which the accused is charged.
- (2) If the law which creates the offence gives it any specific name, the offence may be described in the charge by that name only.
 - (3) If the law which creates the offence does not give it any specific name, so much of the definition of the offence must be stated as to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.
 - (4) The law and section of the law against which the offence is said to have been committed shall be mentioned in the charge.
 - (5) The fact that the charge is made is equivalent to a statement that every legal condition required by law to constitute the offence charged was fulfilled in the particular case.

Section 215 of Indian Penal Code deals with offence of taking gift to help to recover stolen property, providing for punishment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine or with both and the ingredients of the offence are:-

- (1) Taking or agreeing or consenting to take a gratification with a view to helping any person to recover movable property.
- (2) The owner having lost such property by an offence punishable under this Code; and
- (3) That the person who took or agreed to take gratification did not use any means to cause the offender to be apprehended and convicted of the offence.
- (4) Knowledge is not the essential ingredient of this offence.

The punishment prescribed in imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine.

Section 489-A of Indian Penal Code deals with the offence of counterfeiting currency notes or bank notes and the ingredients of the offence are:

- (1) Accused counterfeited or performed any part of the process of counterfeiting,
- (2) What was counterfeited or attempted to be counterfeited was 'a currency-note or a Bank-note.

Counterfeit means to imitate, made in imitation of something genuine so as to defraud; forged; pretended; sham; feigned; an imitation made to deceive; something so much like something else as to mislead; to resemble closely.

Section 489-B deals with the offence of using as genuine, forged or counterfeit currency-notes or bank-notes and punishment prescribed is imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extended to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine.

The ingredients of the offence are:

- (1) The note in question is a currency-note or a bank-note.
- (2) Such currency-note or bank-note was forged or counterfeited.
- (3) Accused sold to or brought from or received from any person or otherwise trafficked in or used as genuine any forged or counterfeited currency-note or bank-note.
- (4) He knew or had reason to believe it to be forged or counterfeit.

Section 489-C deals with the offence of possession of forged or counterfeit currency-notes or bank-notes. The punishment prescribed is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both. The ingredients of the offence under this section are as follows:

- (1) The note in question is a currency-note or bank-note.
- (2) Such note was forged or counterfeit.
- (3) Accused was in possession of it.
- (4) He intended to use the same as genuine.
- (5) At the time he possessed the note, he knew or had reason to believe it to be forged or counterfeit.

Knowledge and belief of the accused may be presumed from circumstances and need not be proved by direct evidence, AIR 1961 AP 213 (in re: Satyanarayana). Once the accused is found to be in possession of counterfeit notes, he must be presumed to know that the notes were counterfeit. If the notes were of such a nature that a mere look at them would convince anybody that it was counterfeit such a presumption could reasonably be drawn. But the difficulty arose where the prosecution did not put any specific question to the accused in order to find out whether he knew that the notes were of such a nature. No such evidence has been led by the prosecution to prove the nature of the notes also. Under the circumstances the accused could not be convicted for an offence of the nature, AIR 1979 SC 1705 (M. Mammutti).

Section 489-D of Indian Penal Code deals with an offence of making or possessing instruments or materials for forging or counterfeiting currency-notes or bank-notes. The punishment prescribed is imprisonment for life, or with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine. The ingredients of the offence are as follows:

 - (a) made it ; or
 - (b) performed any part of the process of making it ; or
 - (c) bought it ; or
 - (d) sold it.
- (3) Accused knew or had reason to believe that it was intended to be used for forging or counterfeiting any currency-notes or bank-notes.

15. Responsibility of court or other prosecuting officers for orders under Section 545, Cr. P. C.

Whenever a court imposes a fine, or confirms in appeal, revision, or otherwise sentence of fine, or a sentence of which fine forms a part, in any criminal case in which any person has met with his death or any serious personal injury at the hands of police as a result of ill-treatment, the court officer or any other officer responsible for the prosecution of the case will move the court to order the whole or any part of the fine recovered to be applied in compensation for the injury caused by the offence committed and forthwith send a report to the Superintendent of Police showing the steps taken and the orders passed.

NOTES

Section 545 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as referred to in this rule corresponds to Section 357, sub-sections (1) and (2), reading as follows:

"357. Order to pay compensation - (1) When a Court imposes a sentence of fine or a sentence (including a sentence of death) of which fine forms a part, the court may, when passing judgment, order the whole or any part of the fine recovered to be applied-

- (2) If the fine is imposed in a case which is subject to appeal, no such payment shall be made before the period allowed for presenting the appeal has elapsed, or, if an appeal be presented, before the decision of the appeal.

16. Excise and opium cases.

On the institution of any excise or opium cases sent up by the police without the cognizance of the Deputy Commissioner or sub-divisional officer as the case may be, the court officer should at once inform him so that the Excise Department may, if they choose, watch the proceedings. The procedure as to prosecution by court officers will be the same as in other police cases. But in excise cases sent up by excise, officers the following procedure should be followed:

- (a) In cases in which the employment of an officer to prosecute is not considered necessary, the excise officer, though not formally prosecutor, will assist the court.
- (b) In cases in which the employment of an officer is considered necessary by the Deputy Commissioner or sub-divisional officer. or in his absence by the senior officer in charge of his office, the police should undertake the prosecution; except when the case is of such importance or intricacy that it is considered necessary to engage a pleader.

17. Rewards under Opium, Excise and other Acts.

Rewards can be granted for successful detection of cases under certain sections of the following special Acts:-

- (i) Indian Opium (Act, I of 1878.)

It is the duty of the court officer, when the circumstances are appropriate, to bring the rules connected with the distribution of rewards to the notice of the convicting magistrate and to apply for the authorised rewards on behalf of the police officers concerned.

18. Employment of Government pleader in magistrate's court.

The Superintendent of Police should apply to the Magistrate of the district to retain the services of the Government pleader, or other local pleader, for the prosecution of important cases in Magistrate's courts or to support an important appeal before the District Magistrate. The court officer or other police officer acquainted with the case should, if necessary, be present to assist the pleader throughout the case.

19. Duty of superintendent of police in the prosecution of cases.

The Superintendent of Police and his assistant, where he has one, should themselves take an active and personal interest in the prosecution of cases of all kinds. It will often be useful for him to be present at the trial of important police cases whether before the Magistrate or before a Sessions court. No important case should go to the sessions for trial, which the Superintendent of Police has not personally mastered and carefully discussed with the Government pleader and investigating officer.

20. Distribution of cases amongst magistrates.

The Superintendent of Police will see that the court officer does not burden himself with more cases than he can properly manage, and when necessary, will move the District Magistrate to arrange work so that not more than one case to be prosecuted by the court officer is called up by the different courts at one time.

21. Prosecution of railway cases.

Under Section 145 of the Indian Railways Act (Act IX of 1890), all railway police officers have been authorised by the Manager to conduct the prosecution of railway cases.

22. Court officer's daily under-trial report.

(a) A statement in Form No. III of Schedule XL (A) (Part I) which will include sessions cases (in the district headquarters only) as well as non-police cases the prosecutions of which are conducted by the court office staff will be submitted daily to the Superintendent of police by the court officer who will fill in the first four columns on his arrival in court. The Superintendent of Police will return it after seeing that all cases are being conducted by the correct prosecuting officers and that the senior prosecutor is conducting the most important cases. On the following day the court officer will fill in the remaining columns and will resubmit it, together with the current day's report. In forwarding the former the Superintendent of Police should invite the District Magistrate's attention to any sentence which is, in his opinion inadequate. to any matter requiring special attention and to any cases which have been remanded too often.

(b) In sub-divisions where there is a Court Inspector he will submit as above the report to the Assistant or Deputy Superintendent of Police in charge of the sub-division, if any, when present at headquarters, who will forward it through the sub-divisional officer to the Superintendent of Police. In the absence of the Assistant or Deputy Superintendent of Police from headquarters or if there is no such officers in charge of the subdivision the Court Inspector will himself send it to the Superintendent of Police through the sub-divisional officer after filling in all the columns of the form.

(c) If there is a Sub-Inspector in charge of a sub-divisional court office he will send the report to the Superintendent of Police through the circle Inspector, the Gazetted Police Officer in charge of the sub-division, where there is one and the sub-divisional officer. In the absence of the circle Inspector and the Gazetted Police Officer from the headquarters or if there is no Gazetted Police Officer at all in the sub-division the Court Sub-Inspector will himself send the report to the Superintendent of Police through the sub-divisional officer after filling in all the columns.

(d) When there are G.R.P. cases the Prosecuting Inspector at District Headquarters and the Sub-Inspector in charge of a sub-divisional court, will prepare a separate daily under-trial report for such cases and submit it to the Superintendent of Railway Police, Assam who after necessary scrutiny will forward it with his comments to the District Magistrate concerned.

Appeals and Withdrawal) of Cases

(Rules 23 to 27)

23. Appeals to High Court and to Sessions.

When an appeal is preferred to the High Court against the orders of a Sessions Judge in a serious case, the Superintendent of Police should on receipt of notice of the appeal from the District Magistrate, inform him of any particularly important facts connected with the case that should be brought to the notice of the Legal Remembrancer and of any reasons why the latter should be asked to enter appearance for the Crown even through the appellant is unrepresented. He should also consider, in consultation with the Magistrate the propriety of deputing the investigating officer or the public prosecutor personally to instruct the counsel representing the State in the High Court. Unless otherwise instructed by a magistrate, a public prosecutor is required to appear in all appeals before the Sessions Judge in which the appellant is represented by a pleader or counsel.

The Superintendent of Police should bring to the notice of the magistrate any other cases in which he considers it desirable that the State should be represented. Such cases include those in which police officers have been convicted of mol practices, either cognizable or non-cognizable. He should also report for the orders of the magistrate any case in which the public prosecutor fails to appear though required to do so by rule or specific instructions, or in which he considers that the conviction has not been supported properly. A complete brief, i. e. copies of Judgment, depositions, note-sheets, etc., will be prepared by the magistrate when a public prosecutor or a Court Inspector is required to represent the State in appeals Or references under Section 123 (2) Criminal Procedure Code.

NOTES

Section 123 of Cr. P. C. as referred in this rule corresponds to Section 122 of the 1973 Code, which deals with imprisonment in default of security, reading as follows:

- "122. Imprisonment in default of security - (1) (a) If any person ordered to give security under Section 106 or Section 117 does not give such security on or before the date on which the period for which such security is to be given commences, he shall, except in the case next hereinafter mentioned, be committed to prison, or, if he is already in prison, be detained in prison until such period expires or until within such period he gives the security to, the Court or Magistrate who made the order requiring it.
- (b) If any person after having executed a bond without sureties for keeping the peace in pursuance of an order of a Magistrate under Section 117, is proved, to the satisfaction of such Magistrate or his successor-in-office, to have committed breach of the bond, such Magistrate or successor-in office may, after recording the grounds of such proof, order that the person be arrested and detained in prison until the expiry of the period of the bond and such order shall be without prejudice to any other punishment or forfeiture to which the said person may be liable in accordance with law.
- (2) When such person has been ordered by a Magistrate to give security for a period exceeding one year, such Magistrate shall. if such person does not give such security as aforesaid, issue a warrant directing him to be detained in prison pending the orders of the Sessions Judge and the proceedings shall be laid, as soon as conveniently may be, before such Court.
- (3) Such Court, after examining such proceedings and requiring from the Magistrate any further information or evidence which it thinks necessary, and after giving the concerned person a reasonable opportunity of being heard, may pass such order on the case as it thinks fit;

Provided that the period (if any) for which any person is imprisoned for failure to give security shall not exceed three years.

- (4) If security has been required in the course of the same proceeding from two or more persons in respect of anyone of whom the proceedings are referred to the Sessions Judge after subsection (2), such reference shall also include the case of any other of such persons who has been ordered to give security, and the provisions of Sub-sections (2) and (3) shall, in that event, apply to the case of such other person also, except that the period (if any) for which he may be imprisoned, shall not exceed the period for which he was ordered to give security.
- (5) A Sessions Judge may in his discretion transfer any proceedings laid before him under sub-section (2) or subsection (4) to an Additional Sessions Judge or Assistant Sessions Judge and upon such transfer, such Additional Sessions Judge or Assistant Sessions Judge may exercise the powers of a Sessions Judge under this section in respect of such proceeding.
- (6) If the security is tendered to the officer in charge of the jail, he shall forthwith refer the matter to the Court of Magistrate who made the order, and shall await the orders of such court or Magistrate.
- (7) Imprisonment for failure to give security for keeping the peace shall be simple.
- (8) Imprisonment for failure to give security for good behaviour shall, where the proceedings have been taken under Section 108, be simple, and, where the proceedings have been under Section 109 or Section 110, be rigorous or simple as the Court or Magistrate in each case direct.

24. Instructing the Government pleader in sessions cases. –

- (a) Whenever a case committed to sessions the case diaries, copies of the depositions and of the exhibits and a copy of the order of commitment should be made over to the public prosecutor within seven days after commitment. These should be return by him at the close of the trial with such remarks as he may wish to make. He should treat the case diaries as confidential documents.

- (b) In all cases committed to sessions, whether from the sadar or outlying sub-divisions, the headquarters Court Inspector should ascertain by personal communications with the public prosecutor whether the papers furnished to him under sub-rule (a) above are complete in all details, and if not, the Inspector should supplement them with any information that may be required.
- (c) If the public prosecutor requires the presence of particular officers acquainted with the facts of the case these officer should be brought in. He should be supplied with all necessary papers and information in good time, so that if further evidence in his opinion is required upon any particular point a reference may be made to the Magistrate with a view to its being obtained before the case comes on for trial.
- (d) The District Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police should frequently in personal interview satisfy themselves that the provisions of this rule are carefully complied with and that the public prosecutor receives all the aid that he needs to enable him to prosecute successfully.

25. Notice of appeals in police cases.

District Magistrates will give immediate notice to the Superintendent of Police of all appeals and of all applications for revision of sentence in which the High Court issues a rule or when an explanation is called for by the court of Sessions, and act in concert with him in such cases.

26. Withdrawal of State cases.

The procedure of withdrawal of pending police cases should not be resorted to except in the following cases:-

- (a) Cases in which during the course of the proceedings in Court it has been found that wrong persons have been sent up owing to obvious mistakes during investigation.
- (b) Cases which are so weak and are bound almost certainly to end in acquittal and which in the first instance should not have been sent to Court.
- (c) Cases in which it is not desirable for reasons of State to proceed. If the investigating Officers as well as the prosecuting Inspectors and the superior officers of the Police exercise adequate vigilance during the course of the investigation and the preparation of the brief, occasions for action under (a) and (b) above should not ordinarily arise. As regard (s) there may be rare cases in which it may not be in the public interest to go on with the prosecution of a particular case but cases of this nature would also be exceptional. In any case where for one of the reasons stated above the Superintendent of Police considers that the pending case should be withdrawn under [Section 494 of the Cr. P. C.] they should make a report through the District Magistrate to Government in the Home Department and await the sanction of Government for the withdrawal of the Court Inspector from the prosecution of the case. The Court before which the case is pending should be informed of the fact that a report has been made to Government and should be requested for an adjournment until the reply of Government is received, On no account is a District Magistrate or a Superintendent of Police to withdraw criminal cases pending in Court on his own authority.

The same remarks mutatis mutandis apply to criminal cases which are still in the investigation stage or in which in a charge-sheet has been submitted to the Court but the actual hearing has not started. The Investigating Officer is of course competent to submit a final report for approval of higher officers if the evidence is inadequate for further proceeding in the case but the District Magistrate or the Superintendent of Police should not for any other reason stop the investigation or withdraw the charge-sheet in a case in which the investigation has been completed and the charge-sheet submitted but proceedings in the Court have not commenced.

NOTES

Section 494 of Cr. P. C. referred to in this rule corresponds to Section 321 of the 1973 Code, dealing with withdrawal from prosecution, reading as follows:

321. Withdrawal from prosecution.

The Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor in charge of a case may with the consent of the Court, at any time before the judgment is pronounced, withdraw from the prosecution of any person either generally or in respect of anyone or more of the offences for which he is tried; and, upon such withdrawal,-

- (a) if it is made before a charge has been framed, the accused shall be discharged in respect of such offence or offences;

- (b) if it is made after a charge has been framed, or when under this Code no charge is required, he shall be acquitted in respect of such offence or offences ;

Provided that where such offence –

- (i) was against any law relating to a matter to which the executive power of the Union extends, or
- (ii) was investigated by the Delhi Special Police Establishment under the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946 (25 of 1946), or
- (iii) involved the mis-appropriation or destruction of, or damage to, any property belonging to the Central Government, or
- (iv) was committed by a person in the service of the Central Government while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of his official duty, and the Prosecutor in charge of the case has not been appointed by the Central Government, he shall not, unless he has been permitted by the Central Government to do so, move the Court for its consent to withdraw from the prosecution and the Court shall, before according consent, direct the Prosecutor to produce before it the permission granted by the Central Government to withdraw from the prosecution.

27. Appeals against acquittal and applications for further enquiry.

Under Section 535, Criminal Procedure Code, the District Magistrate has power to call for the record of any proceeding before any inferior criminal court in his jurisdiction, and under Sections 436, 437 and 438, Criminal Procedure Code, he has certain powers of ordering further enquiry, or ordering commitment to sessions or moving the High Court in revision Whenever the Superintendent of Police thinks that there is proper occasion for the exercise of these powers, he should move the district magistrate for the purpose.

In cases of acquittal where there has been a grave miscarriage of justice and the Superintendent of Police thinks that an appeal is necessary and is likely to be successful, he should with the least possible delay send the District Magistrate a full note on the case so as to enable that officer to move the Local Government to appeal to the High Court under Section 417, Criminal Procedure Code. It should be noted that as a matter of practice the Local Government declines to appeal against an order of acquittal unless moved to do so within a period of less than three months from the date of the order. Hence the need for prompt action.

NOTES

- (2) Where any proceeding by way of revision is commenced before a Sessions Judge under sub-section (1), the provisions of subsections (2), (3), (4) and (5) of Section 401 shall, so far as may be, apply to such proceeding and references in the said subsections to the High Court shall be construed as references to the Sessions Judge.
- (3) Where any application for revision is made by or on behalf of any person before the Sessions Judge, the decision of the Sessions Judge thereon in relation to such person shall be final and no further proceeding by way of revision at the instance of such person shall be entertained by the High Court or any other court."

"400 Power of Additional Sessions Judge - An Additional Sessions Judge shall have and may exercise all the powers of a Sessions Judge under this Chapter in respect of any case which may be transferred to him by or under any general or special order of the Sessions Judge.

Section 417 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this Rule deals with appeal in case of acquittal corresponds to Section 378 of the 1973 Code reading as follows:

"378. Appeal in case of acquittal - (1) Save as otherwise provided In sub-section (2) and subject to the provisions of sub-sections (3) and (5), the State Government may, in any case, direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal to the High Court from an original or appellate order of acquittal passed by any court other than a High Court (or an order of acquittal passed by the Court of Session in revision).

- (2) If such an order of acquittal is passed in any case in which the offence has been investigated by the Delhi Special Police Establishment constituted under the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act, 1946 (25 of 1946), or by any other agency empowered to make investigation into an offence under any Central Act other than this Code, the Central Government may also direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), to the High Court from the order of acquittal.
- (3) No appeal under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be entertained except with the leave of the High Court.
- (4) If such an order of acquittal is passed in any case instituted upon complaint and the High Court, on an application made to it by the complainant in this behalf, grants special leave to appeal from the order of acquittal, the complainant may present such an appeal to the High Court.
- (5) No application under sub-section (4) for the grant of special leave to appeal from an order of acquittal shall be entertained by the High Court after the expiry of six months, where the complainant is a public servant, and sixty days in every other case, computed from the date of that order of acquittal.
- (6) If in any case, the application under sub-section (4) for the grant of special leave to appeal from an order of acquittal is refused, no appeal from that order of acquittal shall lie under sub-section (1) or under sub-section (2).

Instruction regarding evidence

(Rules 28 to 35)

28. Production of diaries.

Every page of the case diaries and any connected papers received with them must be stamped with the date immediately on receipt in the court office. The case diaries may be sent for and referred to by any criminal court; but the accused or his agent is not entitled to call for or to see them unless the police officer who made them uses them to refresh his memory, or the court uses them to contradict such police officer.

Care must be taken that case diaries called for by the court under Section 172, Criminal Procedure Code, but not put in as evidence, are not attached to the record, and that they are returned by the court as soon as done with. Mutatis mutandis, the same instructions will apply to any reports of a confidential nature, not admitted in evidence, the publication of which is obviously undesirable.

Section 172 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as referred to in this Rule reads as follows;

"172. Diary of proceedings in investigation - (1) Every police officer making an investigation under this Chapter shall day by day enter his proceedings in the investigation in a diary setting forth the time at which the information reached him' the time at which he began and closed his investigation the place or places visited by him, and a statement of the circumstances ascertained through his investigation.

- (2) Any Criminal Court may send for the police diaries of a case under inquiry or trial in such Court, and may use such diaries, not as evidence in the case, but to aid it in such inquiry or trial.
- (3) Neither the accused nor his agents shall be entitled to call for such diaries, nor shall he or they be entitled to see them merely because they are referred to by the Court; but, if they are used by the police officer who made them to refresh his memory, or if the Court uses them for the purpose of contradicting such police officer, the provisions of Section 161 or Section 145, as the case may be, of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872), shall apply.

29. Attendance of witnesses.

The following rule framed by the High Court with regard to the attendance of witnesses in court is reproduced below for the guidance of court officers:-

“The police officer attached to the court, or some other responsible officer of the court, specially appointed to the duty, shall be required to make over to the bench clerk, not later than 12.30 p.m., or, if early morning sittings are being held not later than 7.30 a.m., a list, verified, dated and initialled by him, of the witnesses who, up to 12 noon, or, if early morning sittings are being held, up to 7 a.m., are in attendance for examination. The bench clerk will enter in the register of attendance of witnesses the names of the witnesses entered in the list, and also of those who, though not so entered, are actually examined. The omissions of the name of a witness from the list shall be no bar to such witness being examined if presented for examination; but no cost shall be allowed to any witness on account of his expenses for the day's attendance if he is neither entered in the list, nor actually examined.”

Note - This rule in no way affects the obligation on the part of witnesses to attend punctually at the time for which they are summoned.

30. Expenses of complainant and witnesses attending court.

(a) The travelling expenses of complainants and witnesses attending court in railway or district police cases are payable by the criminal courts in accordance with the rules framed by Government under Section 544, Criminal Procedure Code. When necessary court officers will help them to obtain payment.

(b) When the complainant or a witness in a case is a Government servant and no expenses are paid to him by the court; the prosecuting officer shall see that a certificate of attendance is given him by the court to enable him to draw his travelling expenses.

NOTES

Section 544 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this Rule corresponds to Section 312 of the 1973 Code and reads as follows;

"312. Expenses of complainants and witnesses - Subject to any rules made by the State Government, any Criminal Court may, if it thinks fit, order payment, on the part of Government, of the reasonable expenses of any complainant or witness attending for the purposes of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding before such Court under this Code."

31. Statement of witnesses under Section 161, Criminal Procedure Code.

Statements of witnesses recorded by the police under Section 161, Criminal Procedure Code, should be kept distinct from the case diary and any other police papers of the case. The date of receipt in the court office should be stamped on every page immediately on receipt and they should be kept in secure custody unless their production is required by a court competent to demand them for the benefit of the accused. Thus when any court sends for the police diaries, only the diary recorded under Section 172 is to be sent, and not the statements of witnesses recorded under Section 161 unless the production of the latter is demanded by the court under the 1st proviso to Section 162 (1), Criminal Procedure Code. For rules of evidence applicable see Part V. All court officers should commit to memory the instructions contained in those rules regarding case diaries recorded under Section 172, and statements of witnesses recorded under Section 161, Criminal Procedure Code.

NOTES

Section 161 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this rule, dealing with examination of witnesses by police, reads as follows:

"161. Examination of witnesses by police - (1) Any police officer making an investigation under this Chapter, or any police officer not below such rank as the State Government may, by general or special order, prescribed in this behalf, acting on the requisition of such officer, may examine orally any person supposed to be acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case.

- (2) Such person shall be bound to answer truly all questions relating to such case put to him by such officer, other than questions the answers to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.
- (3) The police officer may reduce into writing any statement made to him in the course of an examination under this section; and if he does so, he shall make a separate and true record of the statement of each such person whose statement he records.

Section 172 deals with diary of proceedings in investigation and reads as follows:-

- "172. Diary of proceedings in investigation - (1) Every police officer making an investigation under this Chapter shall day by day enter his proceedings in the investigation in a diary, setting forth the time at which the information reached him, the time at which the information reached him, the time at which he began and closed his investigation, the place or places visited by him and a statement of the circumstances ascertained through his investigation.
- (2) Any Criminal Court may send for the police diaries of a case under inquiry or trial in such Court, and may use such diaries, not as evidence in the case, but to aid it in such inquiry or trial.
 - (3) Neither the accused nor his agents shall be entitled to call for such diaries nor shall he or they be entitled to see them merely because they are referred to by the Court; but, if they are used by the police officer who made them to refresh his memory, or if the Court uses them for the purpose of contradicting such police officer, the provisions of Section 161 or Section 145, as the case may be, of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872), shall apply."

Section 162 provides that the statements to police not to be signed use of statements in evidence, which provision reads as follows:-

- "162. Statements of police not to be signed; Use of statements in evidence - (1) No statement made by any person to a Police Officer in the course of an investigation under this Chapter, shall, if reduced to writing, be signed by the person making it; nor shall any such statement or any record thereof, whether in a police diary or otherwise, or any part of such statement or record, be used for any purpose, save as hereinafter provided, at any inquiry or trial in respect of any offence under investigation at the time when such statement was made:

Provided that when any witness is called for the prosecution in such inquiry or trial whose statement has been reduced into writing as aforesaid, any part of his statement, if duly proved, may be used by the accused, and with the permission of the Court, by the prosecution, to contradict such witness in the manner provided by Section 145 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872); and when any part of such statement is so used, any part thereof may also be used in the re-examination of such witness, but for the purpose only of explaining any matter referred to in his cross-examination.

- (2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to any statement falling within the provisions of clause (1) of Section 32 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872), or to affect the provisions of Section 27 of that Act.

Explanation - An omission to state a fact or circumstance in the statement referred to in sub-section (1) may amount to contradiction if the same appears to be significant and otherwise relevant having regard to the context in which such omission occurs and whether any omission amounts to a contradiction in the particular context shall be a question of fact.

CASE LAW

In the case of Balakrishna Swain v. State of Orissa, (1971) 3 SCR 152 P.W S's blood stained clothes were seized about ten days after the incident. The witness wants the court to believe that for these 10 days he was wearing these bloodstained clothes without removing them. The delayed examination of the witness became fatal of the prosecution.

In the case of State v. Kapil Deo Shukla, (1972) 3 SCC 504, the copies of statements of witnesses proposed to be examined by the prosecution recorded under Section 161, Cr.P.C. and copies of other documents proposed to be relied upon by the prosecution were not furnished to him, the first on the ground that they were not traceable and the second inspite of the court's order under Section 173, thus stultifying preparation by him of his defence and cross examining adequately those witnesses. It was observed:

"It is a matter of some regret that, the respondent against whom serious charges of a public nature stand, should not be proceeded with. But as against that there is equally the fact that long lapse of time and the impossibility of supplying him copies of police statements and other relevant documents is likely to end in the trial not being fair and just. In these circumstances, we have come to the conclusion that it is neither expedient nor in the larger interest of justice that the trial with all the aforesaid deficiencies, should be allowed to proceed."

As held in the case of R. M. Malkani v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 1 SCC 471, tape recorded conversation between two persons is admissible provided first the conversation is relevant to the matters in issue, secondly, there is identification of the voice; and thirdly, the accuracy of the tape recorded conversation is proved by eliminating the possibility of erasing the tape record.

As held in the case of Nandini Satpathy v. P. L. Dani, (1978) 2 SCC 424, in Section 161 (2) covers not merely accurations already registered in police stations but those which are likely to be the basis for exposing a person to a criminal charge. In the case of Pakala Narayana Swami v. Emperor, AIR 1939 PC 47, the conclusion was reached that "any person" in Section 161, Cr. P. C. would include persons then or ultimately accused. This view was approved in Mahabir Mandal v. State of Bihar, (1972) 1 SCC 763. Hence, following these decisions, it was held in Nandini Satpathy's case (supra) that "any person supposed to be acquainted with the facts and circumstances of the case includes an accused person who fills the role because the police suppose him to have committed the crime and must, therefore, be familiar with facts. The supposition may later prove a fiction but that does not repeal the section.

As observed in the case of Raghunandan v. State of U. P., (1974) 4 SCC 186 it is true that the ban, imposed by Section 162, Cr. P. C. against the use of a statement of a witness recorded by the Police during investigation, appears sweeping and wide. But, at the same time, the powers of the Court, under Section 165 of the Evidence Act, to put any question to a witness, are also couched in very wide terms authorising the Judge "in order to discover or to obtain proper proof of relevant facts" to "ask any question he pleases, in any form, at any time, of any witness, or of the parties, about any fact relevant or irrelevant."

It is certainly arguable that Section 162, Cr. P. C. does amount to a prohibition against the use even by the Court of statements mentioned there. Nevertheless, the purpose of the prohibition of Section 162, Cr. P. C. being to prevent unfair use by the prosecution of statements made by witnesses to the police during the course of investigation, while proviso is intended for the benefit of the defence, it could also be urged that, in order to secure the ends of justice, which all procedural law is meant to subserve, the prohibition, by taking into account its purpose and the mischief it was designed to prevent as well as its context, must be confined in its scope to the use by parties only to a proceeding of statements mentioned there. It was held that Section 162 Cr. P. C. does not impair the special powers of the Court under Section 165 of Indian Evidence Act.

In the case of Pedda Narayana v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (1975) 4 SCC 153, the details regarding the weapons armed by each of the accused and which accused had attacked on which part of the body of the deceased are not found in the inquest report and from this the learned Sessions Judge sought to draw the inference that the statements of the witnesses now found recorded under Section 161, Cr. P. C. could not have been the statements then read over to the panchayatelars. The High Court held that from the mere fact that these details were not noted in the inquest report it cannot be concluded that the statements given by the witnesses and read over at the inquest did not contain those overt acts and the statements now produced are those of the witnesses which were taken later .. The Supreme Court held that the High Court has thus rightly explained that the omission in the inquest report are not sufficient to put the prosecution out of Court and the learned Additional Sessions Judge was not at all justified in rejecting the prosecution case in view of the alleged infirmity.

In the case of Datar Singh v. State of Punjab, (1975) 4 SCC 530, the signed statements of the witnesses had been annexed to the inquest report and proved by the Prosecution. As held, it is rightly pointed out that this looked like a device adopted to get round the bar of Section 162, Cr. P. C. It also shows that the police was not quite confident about the reliability of the two alleged eye witnesses of the occurrence.

As held in Razik Ram v. Jaswant Singh, (1975) 4 SCC 769, while it is true that the receipt and registration of an F.I.R. is not the sine qua non to the setting in motion of the machinery of criminal investigation the investigating officer must follow the procedure laid down in Section 162, Cr.P.C. provided inter alia that no statement of any person, if recorded, by a police officer in the course of investigation, shall be signed by the person making it. Even a statement of a witness recorded by the investigator during the inquest under Section 174 would be within the inhibition of Section 162. Behind this provision is a wholesome rule of public policy that witnesses at the trial should be free to tell the truth, unhampered by anything they might have been made to say to the police, as laid down in the case of Tehsildar Singh v. State of U. P., AIR 1959 SC 1012.

Witnesses at the trial should be free to tell the truth person, if recorded, by a police officer in the course of investigation, shall be signed by the person making it. Even a statement of a witness recorded by the investigator during the inquest under Section 174 would be within the inhibition of Section 162. Behind this provision is a wholesome rule of public policy that witnesses at the trial should be free to tell the truth, unhampered by anything they might have been made to say to the police, as laid down in the case of Tehsildar Singh v. State of U. P., AIR 1959 SC 1012.

Contradictions not permissible to defence

As observed in Shakila Khader v. Nausheer Cama, (1975) 4 SCC 122, under Section 162 only witnesses on behalf of the prosecution could be contradicted by reference to their statements made to the police, and not court witnesses or defence witnesses.

In the case of Sarna Bhai v. State of Gujarat, (1975) 4 SCC 257, both the Sessions Judge and the High Court held that the complaint made by accused before police during the course of investigation was not hit by Section 162, Cr. P. C. and admissible, but the Supreme Court felt that the High Court committed an error of law by having taken this view.

As held in the case of Sat Paul v. Delhi Administration, (1976) I SCC 727, under the proviso to Section 162, Cr. P. C. such statements made to the police can be used only for the purpose of contradicting a prosecution witness in the manner indicated in Section 145 of the Evidence Act and for no other purpose. They cannot be used for the purpose of seeking corroboration or assurance for the testimony of the witness in court.

In the case of Badri v. State of Rajasthan. (1976) I SCC 442, it was held that where the evidence was led in examination in chief, it was perfectly legitimate for the defence to question him as to whether he had told the police that he informed anybody at the place of occurrence as to his having seen the appellant escaping with the gun. It was further held that the trial court committed a serious error in disallowing the above questions on the ground that these were mere omissions not amounting to contradictions. These questions were clearly admissible under Section 162, Cr. P. C. read with Section 145 of the Evidence Act.

As observed in the case of Mahabir Mandai v. State of Bihar. (1972) I SCC 748, according to Section 162, no statement made by any person to a police officer in the course of investigation shall be signed by the person making it or used for any purpose at any enquiry or trial in respect of any offence under investigation at the time when such statement was made. The only exception to the above rule is mentioned in the proviso to that section. According to the proviso, when any witness is called for the prosecution in the enquiry or trial, any part of his statement, if duly proved. may be used by the accused and with the permission of the court by the prosecution, to contradict such witness in the manner provided by Sec. 145, of the Evidence Act and when any part of such statement is so used, any part thereof may also be used in the re-examination of such witness for the purpose only of explaining any matter referred to in his cross-examination.

Bar of in admissibility.

When a person is arrested for an offence punishable under the Railway Property (Unlawful Possession) Act; Officers of the Railway Protection Force have the power to investigate into the alleged offence and the statements recorded by them during the course of investigation do not attract the provisions of Section 162, Cr. P. C. as held in State of U. P. v. Durga Prasad. (1975) 3 SCC 210, as followed in Srilal Shaw v. State of West Bengal. (1975) I SCC 366.

Unlawful possession of Railway property

In the case of Baladin v. State of U. P., AIR 1956 SC 181, it was pointed out that statements made by prosecution witnesses before the investigating police officer being the earliest statements made by them With reference to the facts of the occurrence are valuable material for testing the veracity of the witnesses examined in court but the statements made during police investigation are not substantive evidence.

In the case of Surjau v. State of Rajasthan. AIR 1956 SC 425, it was observed that the statement in the inquest report is not evidence by itself and it certainly cannot be flitted against the evidence of the medical witness given in Court.

In the case of Razik Ram v. J. S. Chouhan, AIR 1975 SC 677, a statement of the witness was recorded by the investigating officer and thumb mark was being used in an election petition. It was held that the statement was hit by Section 162, Cr. P. C.

Any statement made by any witness to a police officer during investigation in clearly hit by Section 162 and can be used only for contradicting or corroborating the other witness and is not a substantive piece of evidence.

Statement of witness during investigation.

In the case of Jit Singh v. State of Punjab, (1976) 2 SCC 836, site-plan also was prepared by the Investigating Officer in accordance with the various situations pointed out by the witness; held that it is not permissible to use the site-plan in the manner suggested. The notes in question in the site plan were statements recorded by the Police Officer in the course of investigation, and were hit by Section 162 of Cr. P.C. These notes could be used only for the purposes of contradicting the prosecution witnesses concerned in accordance with the provisions of Section 145.

Site plan prepared-admissibility.

Evidence Act and for no other purpose. In the case of Rameshwar Dayal v. State of U. P., (1978) 2 SCC 518, it appeared that Note No.4 in Ex Ka-18 is not a note which is based on the information given to the Investigating Officer by the witnesses but is a memo of what he himself found and observed at the spot. Such a statement does not fall within the four corners of Section 162. In fact, documents like the inquest report, seizure lists of the site plans consist of two parts one of which is based on the actual observation of the witness at the spot being direct evidence in the case is clearly admissible under Section 60 of the Evidence Act whereas the other part which is based on information given to the investigating officer or on the statement recorded by him in the course of investigation is inadmissible under Section 162, Cr. P. C. except for the limited purpose mentioned in that section.

In the case of Mannu Raja v. State of M. P., (1976) 3 SCC 104, the statement was made out the police station by way of a first information report. It is after the information was recorded and indeed because of it, that the investigation commenced and therefore it is wrong to say that the statement was made to an investigating officer. The Station House Officer who recorded the statement did not possess the capacity of an investigating officer at the time when he recorded the statement.

Statements made in the police station.

As observed in the case of Laxman Kalu v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1968 SC 1390, it is unfortunate that our law does not admit of cross examination of such a witness in respect of statements before the Police.

It was observed in the case of Rameshwar Singh v. State of J. and K., (1971) 2 SCC 715, that the High Court was clearly in error in taking into consideration the contents of the statements recorded under Section 161, Cr. P. C during the course of investigation for the purpose of finding corroboration of the statements made in court. The language of Section 162 is plain and explicit and it admits no doubt of its meaning No reference need made to large catena of decisions reported in law reports and cited in text books stating the legal position with regard to the restricted use of such statement as laid down in Section 162, Cr. P. C. prohibiting the Court from using them as corroborative of the statements in court.

Prohibition of use of statements recorded under Section 161 for corroborating a witness

Any statement made in the Panchanama cannot be used in evidence except for the purpose of contradicting the witness whose statement is contained in the Panchanama, but if it is intended to contradict him by the writing his attention must before the writing can be proved be called to those part of it which are to be used for contradicting him. This is what is required under Section 145 of the Evidence Act but even where a witness is confronted by his previous statement and given an opportunity to explain that part of the statement that is put to him does not constitute substantive evidence, as to observed in the case of Kanu Ambu Vish v. The State of Maharashtra, (1971) I SCC 503.

Statement made in Panchanama.

The Statements made by witnesses during investigations should not be got signed by them if they are reduced in writing and in the case of Makan Jisan. v. State of Gujrat, (1971) 3 SCC 297, the investigating officer could not have thought that the witnesses so closely related to one another could ever have been gained over. Evidently the accused was trying to exploit the statement made by the witness under same misapprehension. But the learned trial Judge would have done well to clear this point by questioning the investigating officer and by looking into the relevant records.

Statement of witnesses during investigation not to be got signed.

As held in the case of Tapinder Singh v. State of Punjab, (1970) 2 SCC 113, the bar created by Section 162 (1), Cr. P. C. is in application dying declarations.

Dying declaration

32. Confession.

For instructions regarding the recording and verification of confessions, their object and value, etc. See Part V.

33. Witnesses to house search.

Upon receipt in the court office of the list of property found on a search made under Section 103 or 165. Criminal Procedure Code, the date of receipt will at once be stamped on it.

The police have no power under the law to compel the attendance in court of witness to a search but if any court appears to entertain doubts regarding the identity of the articles given in the list of properties, the prosecuting officers should request the court to summon the witnesses to the search.

NOTES

Section 103 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this rule corresponds to subsections (4) to (8) of Section 100 of the 1973 Code, reading as follows:

"100(4)-Before making a search under this Chapter, the officer or other person about to make it shall call upon two or more independent and respectable inhabitants of the locality in which the place to be searched is situate or of any other locality if no such inhabitant of the said locality is available or is willing to be a witness to the search, to attend and witness the search and may issue an order in writing to them or any of them so to do.

"100(5)-The search shall be made in their presence, and a list of all things seized in the course of such search and of the places in which they are respectively found shall be prepared by such officer or other person and signed by such witnesses; but no person witnessing a search under this section shall be required to attend the Court as a witness of the search unless specially summoned by it.

"100(6)-The occupant of the place searched, or some person in his behalf, shall, in every instance, be permitted to attend during the search, and a copy of the list prepared under this section, signed by the said witnesses, shall be delivered to such occupant or person.

"100(7)-When any person is searched under sub-section (3), a list of all things taken in possession of shall be prepared, and a copy thereof shall be delivered to such person.

"100(8)-Any person who, without reasonable cause, refuses or neglects to attend and witness a search under this section, when call upon to do so by an order in writing delivered or tendered to him shall be deemed to have committed an offence under Section 187 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860).

Section 165 of the Code deals with search by police officer reading as follows:-

"165- Search by police officer - (1) Whenever an officer in charge of a police station or a police officer making an investigation has reasonable grounds for believing that anything necessary for the purposes of an investigation into any offence which he is authorised to investigate may be found in any place within the limits of the police station of which he is in charge, or to which he is attached and that such thing cannot in his opinion be otherwise obtained without undue delay, such officer may, after recording in writing the grounds of his belief and specifying in such writing, so far as possible, the thing for which search is to be made search or cause search to be made, for such thing in any place within the limits of such station.

- (2) A police officer proceeding under sub-section (1), shall, if practicable, conduct the search in person.
- (3) If he is unable to conduct the search in person. and there is no other person competent to make the search present at the time he may, after recording in writing his reasons for so doing require any officer subordinate to him to make the search, and he shall deliver to such subordinate officer an order in writing, specifying the place to be searched, and so far as possible, the thing for which search is to be made; and such subordinate officer may thereupon search for such thing in such place.
- (4) The provisions of this Code as to search-warrants and the general provisions as to searches contained in Section 100 shall, so far as may be apply to a search made under this section.
- (5) Copies of any record made under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) shall forthwith be sent to the nearest Magistrate empowered to take cognizance of the offence, and the owner or occupier of the place searched shall, on application, be furnished, free of cost, with a copy of the same by the Magistrate."

In the case of State of Madhya Pradesh v. Mubarak Ali, AIR 1959 SC 707, the requirements of Section 165 to be complied with have been set out and analysed. As observed in Shyam Lal Sharma v. State of M. P., (1972) I SCC 764, it was observed that non-conformity with any of the requirements of the provisions contained in Section 165 must be conformed to that part of the investigation which relates to the actual search and seizure but once the search and seizure is complete that provision ceases to have any application to the subsequent steps in the investigation. In the case of the State of Rajasthan v. Rahman, AIR 1960 SC 210, a Deputy Superintendent of Central Excise, who accompanied by an Inspector of Central Excise, a sepoy, a chowkidar and two motbirs, without complying with the provisions of Section 165 had gone to the house of the respondent with a view to search the house for finding out whether he had stored tobacco there. When they declared their intention to do so, they were obstruction and as a result the officials received injuries. The accused was prosecuted for an offence under Sec. 353 I.P.C. and the Supreme Court held that the search made was in contravention of the provisions of Sec. 165 of the Code was illegal but even so, it did not go into the question whether the omission to record the reason was only an irregularity and that the respondents had no right to prevent the officer from making the search because as that contention had not been raised till then it felt that there was no justification to allow it to be raised before it for the first time. This case was considered in Bai Radha v. State of Gujarat, (1969) I SCC 43, where the search was made under Section 15 of the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956, the provisions of which were in parimateria with Sec. 165 of Cr. P.C. in that (1) if the special police officer empowered to search the premises has reasonable grounds in respect of a woman or a girl living in any premises and that such search of the premises with warrant cannot be made without undue delay; such officer may, after recording the grounds of his belief, enter and search such premises without obstruction to search made in contravention of the provisions.

a warrant; (2) before making a search the special police officer, was required to call upon two or more respectable inhabitants (at least one of whom shall be a woman) of the locality in which the place to be searched is situate, to attend and witness the search. It was contended that since these provisions have not been complied with, the conviction of the appellant was illegal. The High Court in that case was of the view that the power to conduct the search was derived from the statute and not from recording of reasons and, therefore the search was not rendered illegal on account of the contravention of Section 15 (1) of the Act. In this view, it did not agree with the decision in Public Prosecutor v. Uttaravalli Nageshwararao, AIR 1965 AP 176, which held that the directions contained in sub-section (2) were of mandatory nature. Hence the non-observance of the provisions of Section 15 (2) was held to be not an illegality but a mere irregularity having regard to the provisions of Section 537, Cr. P. C. (Section 465 of 1973 Code), and unless it is shown that such irregularity has caused a failure of justice the conviction cannot be set aside. It would, therefore appear that the Supreme Court has not finally decided whether a search already made in contravention of the provisions of Section 165 Cr. P. C. makes it illegal or void or merely provides a justification for an obstruction to the search when it is intended or in the process of its being conducted. As held, by no stretch of logic or reason can the justification for obstruction during the course of a search in contravention of the provisions of Section 165 entitle a person to force a public servant or any other person to do acts contrary to the violation.

34. Interviewing convicts and application for conditional pardon.

(a) With reference to the instructions contained in Part V it is most important that the court officer should at once report to the Superintendent of Police when he thinks that a convicted prisoner can be interviewed with advantage.

(b) All applications for conditional pardon of approvers should be made in plain paper.

35. Finger prints and photographs of approvers.

Approvers in important cases should have their photographs and finger prints (3 sets) taken without delay. There have been many cases of approvers: absconding at important stages of an investigation or trial.

Instructions Regarding Certain Police Papers and Records

(Rules 36 to 41)

36. Concise memoranda.

Investigating officers are required to despatch the charge sheet form with the original file of cases diaries to the court officer in time to reach him at least one day before the date fixed for the trial of the case.

On receipt of the charge sheet form which should be marked with the date stamp as is done with case diaries, the court officer, if an Inspector, will submit direct, or if a sub-inspector through the circle Inspector when that officer is at headquarters and the sub-divisional gazetted police officer, if any, to the Superintendent of Police a concise memorandum in Form No. 112 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I) showing the dates on which the investigation commenced and closed, the date fixed for hearing, the main features of the case, the points to be proved, the evidence to prove them and the name of the officer who will prosecute or watch the case. The memorandum in a railway police case will be sent by the Superintendent of Police to the Superintendent of Railway Police.

If the case is to be prosecuted by a junior sub-inspector, the court officer, after preparation of the memorandum, will make over the charge sheet and other connected papers to him with such instructions as may be necessary to enable him to prosecute the case.

The court officer will return the original file of the case diaries to the investigating officer when the case is finally disposed of (vide rule regarding instructions for writing case diaries in Part V).

37. Prosecution of maliciously false cases and the duties of the court officer in connection therewith.

When a final report in false cases accompanied by a complaint in writing for the prosecution of the informant or complainant under Sections 182 and 211 of the Indian Penal Code is submitted by the station police as laid down in Part V, the court officer shall first prepare a précis of the case from the investigation officer's diaries. This précis will contain-

- (i) a brief history of the facts of the case,
- (ii) a list of the witnesses who will prove the case false together with the points each one of them will depose to, and
- (iii) a short criticism of the evidence. The court officer at headquarters will submit this direct to the Superintendent of Police. The court officer in sub-divisions will submit it through the Deputy or Assistant Superintendent of Police in charge, if any. The précis will be filed, with the record of the case in Superintendent of Police's office.

After submitting the précis the court officer will request the Magistrate receiving the police papers to satisfy himself as to the correctness or otherwise of the report by reference to the case diaries and immediately enter up the report in the general register. Immediately after the case is disposed of as false the written complaint will be put up to the Magistrate.

NOTES

Section 182 of I.P.C. deals with the offence of giving false information, with intent to cause public servant to use his lawful power to the injury of another person. The punishment prescribed is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both. The ingredients of the offence are:

- (1) Accused gave some information to a public servant.
- (2) Such information was false.
- (3) Accused knew or had reasons to believe that such information was false.
- (4) Intending thereby to cause such public servant to do or hit anything which he ought not to have done if the true state of facts respecting which such information is given were known by him or to use the lawful powers of such public servant to the injury or annoyance of any person.

Section 211 of I. P. C. deals with the charge of offence made with intent to injure. The punishment prescribed is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both and if any criminal proceeding be instituted on a false charge of an offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for life, or imprisonment for seven years or upwards, shall be punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine, The ingredients of the offence under this section are;

- (1) Accused instituted or cause to be instituted criminal proceeding or that he made a charge of that offence;
- (2) There were no just or lawful grounds for such proceedings; or that such charge was false;
- (3) The accused knew at the time of making the charge that there was no just or lawful ground;
- (4) He made the charge intending to cause injury to the persons against whom the charge is made.

The essential ingredients of an offence under this section is to institute or cause to be instituted any criminal proceeding against a person with intent to cause him injury or with similar intent to falsely charge any person with having committed an offence, knowing that there is no just or lawful ground for such proceeding or charge. Santokb Singh v. Izhar Hussain AIR 1973 SC 2190.

38. First information reports and Final Report Forms by whom to be laid before the Magistrate.

First information reports and final report forms must be laid as they come in, before the District Magistrate or Magistrate in charge of police cases at headquarters and before the sub-divisional officer at sub-divisions by such officers as are detailed below:-

- (1) First information reports - By the 2nd court officer (Sub-Inspector or Assistant Sub-Inspector) both at headquarters and sub-divisions.
- (2) Charge sheets - By the officer who prosecutes or watches the case.
- (3) Final report forms - By the 2nd court officer (Sub-Inspector or in his absence assistant sub-inspector) at the headquarters and at sub-divisions where there is a Court Inspector. At the headquarters and sub-divisions where the officer-in-charge of the court office is a sub-inspector this duty will devolve on him. The final report forms will not be submitted for the orders of the Magistrate until they have been subjected to the scrutiny of the circle Inspector.

The officer putting up these forms before the Magistrate is responsible for obtaining the latter's initial or order either on the forms or on the magistrate's general register as the case may be.

39. Copies of judgment to be sent to the criminal investigation department.

(a) Superintendents of Police must obtain copies of judgments in the following cases and send them to the Deputy Inspector General of Police in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department as soon as possible after their delivery-

- (i) Gang cases.
- (ii) Special report cases ending in acquittal or discharge, in which there has been miscarriage of justice or any criticism made against the Police. In no other case need a copy of the Judgment be set, unless specially called for from the office of the Criminal Investigation Department, since the Superintendents of Police are themselves expected to take action in cases where this is necessary and must realise their responsibility for taking such action.
- (iii) Cases in which Europeans figure as accused.
- (iv) Cases against the police in which special reports are submitted.

(b) The court officers of the places where the trials are held are responsible for the prompt supply of copies of such judgments to the Superintendent of Police of the district.

40. Custody of case diaries and other police papers.

All case diaries and any other papers connected with cases, will invariably be regarded as confidential and kept under lock and key in a secure box or locked almirah until the case to which they relate is finally disposed of by the orders of a magistrate or a judge, and appeal, if preferred has been decided, or the period allowed for appeal has expired. Each prosecuting officer will, for this purpose, be supplied with a box or almirah with a good lock and the key should always be kept by him. No assistant Sub-Inspector, constables or outsider will be allowed to see the case diaries unless specially authorized by Superintendent of Police or any other officer enumerated in Part V. All covers containing case diaries will be subscribed with the words "case-diaries" all will be opened only by the court Sub-Inspector or Inspector or any person specially authorised by him or his superior officers in writing. For further rules regarding the treatment of case diaries in Police Stations and Superintendent of Police's offices, see rules in Parts II and V.

No copies of such papers may be given without the order of the Superintendent of Police or Magistrate.

41. Court officer's connection with records.

As soon as the police papers of a case are laid on trying Magistrate's table, the court officer's responsibility with regard to them ceases. He should, therefore, take care, whenever necessary, to make copies of such papers as are likely to be filed with the judicial proceedings previous to their being put in. He has no concern with the custody of the judicial records of cases or with the record office. He is on no account to retain in his possession the records of a case under trial unless ordered in writing to do so by the trying Magistrate. If he subsequently requires a copy of any portion of the record, he should make an application to the trying Magistrate and ask to be allowed to take the copy in the presence of a responsible official of the court.

Bail and recognizance

(Rules 42 to 44)

42. Bail and recognizance bonds.

(a) The duty of drawing up bail and recognizance bonds and getting them duly executed devolves on the court officer.

(b) Witnesses, parties to cases, and sureties, who are required to execute bonds, shall be taken to the court office after the Magistrate's orders are passed, to have the bonds drawn up and executed.

(c) A register of bail and recognizance bonds should be kept by the court officer in Form No. 113 of Schedule XL (A), (Part I). Court officers will obtain in column 9 of the register an acknowledgment of the receipt of bail and recognizance bonds made over to the Magistrate's office to be filed with the record.

(d) The forms to be used by the court officers for bail and recognizance bonds are prescribed in Schedule V of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898).

(e) Whenever a case is committed to the court of sessions, the prosecutor and witnesses should be bound over to appear "at the next criminal sessions commencing on". It should be carefully explained that failure to attend will be severely dealt with.

43. Sureties.

(1) Court officers should make careful enquiries into the position in life of proposed sureties and, if there is any objection to their being accepted, a report should be at once made for the orders of the Magistrate dealing with the case.

(2) If any person who offers himself as a surety habitually makes a business of standing security the fact should be brought to the notice of the Magistrate.

(3) In proceedings under Sections 109 and 110, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the prosecuting officer will apply in writing to the court as soon as the order to give security is passed, not to accept the securities offered without first affording him an opportunity of objecting, is necessary, to any of such securities, and of producing evidence, if required, in support of the objection.

(4) The fitness or unfitness of a security is a matter for the Magistrate's discretion, and such discretion is not limited to any particular kind of unfitness; e.g. pecuniary unfitness is not the only kind of unfitness which a Magistrate is entitled to take into consideration.

Notes - For text of Sections 109 and 110 of Cr. P. C. - see under Rule 13.

44. Money security.

When money is deposited by a party as security under Section 513, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the court officer will be answerable for its being promptly deposited in the treasury for safe custody. As money security cannot be taken for good behaviour, the sureties in such cases should be approved by the Magistrate.

NOTES

Section 513 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as referred to under this Rule, corresponds to Section 445 of the 1973 Code reading as follows:

"445. Deposit instead of recognizance - When any person is required by any Court or officer to execute a bond with or without sureties, such court, or officer may, except in the case of a bond for good behaviour, permit him to deposit a sum of money or Government promissory notes to such amount as the Court or Officer may fix in lieu of executing such bond."

Absconders, warrants and other processes

(Rules 45 to 54)

45. Court officer to apply at once for warrant.

Whenever the charge sheet contains the names of absconders the court officer will at once apply formally, in writing for the issue of warrants against all the absconders named therein and, if the trying Magistrate refuses to issue warrants against all or any of these absconders without giving reasons for his action, or postpones the issue of warrants or declines to pass orders, the court officer will ask the Superintendent of Police to move the district or Sub-divisional Magistrate to withdraw the case under section 528 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, to his own file and then to issue warrants for the arrest of the absconding accused.

NOTES

Section 528 of the Code of 1898 as referred to in this Rule corresponds to Sections 408 to 412 of the Code of 1973, reading as follows:

- "408. Power of Sessions Judge to transfer cases and appeals - (1) Whenever it is made to appear to a Sessions Judge that an order under this sub-section is expedient for the ends of justice, he may order that any particular case be transferred from one Criminal Court to another Criminal Court in his sessions division.
- (2) The Sessions Judge may act either on the report of the lower Court, or on the application of a party interested, or on his own initiative.
- (3) The provisions of sub-sections (3), (4), (5), (6), (7) and (9) of Section 407 shall apply in relation to an application to the Sessions Judge for an order under sub-section (1) as they apply in relation to an application to the High Court for an order under sub-section (1) of Section 407, except that sub-section (7) of that section shall so apply as if for the words "one thousand rupees" occurring therein, the words "two hundred and fifty rupees" were substituted.
409. Withdrawal cases and appeals by Sessions Judges - (1) A Sessions Judge may withdraw any case or appeal from, or recall any case or appeal which he has made over to, any Assistant Sessions Judge or Chief Judicial Magistrate subordinate to him.
- (2) At any time before the trial of the case or the hearing of the appeal has commenced before the Additional Sessions Judge, a Sessions Judge may recall any case or appeal which he has made over to any Additional Sessions Judge.
- (3) Where a Sessions Judge withdraws or recalls a case or appeal under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), he may either try the case in his own Court or hear the appeal himself, or make it over in accordance with the provisions of this Code to another Court for trial or hearing, as the case may be.
410. Withdrawal of cases by Judicial Magistrates - (1) Any Chief Judicial Magistrate may withdraw any case from, or recall any case which he has made over to, any Magistrate subordinate to him, and may inquire into or try such case himself, or refer it for inquiry or trial to any other such Magistrate competent to inquire into or try the same.
- (2) Any Judicial Magistrate may recall any case made over by him under sub-section (2) of Section 192 to any other Magistrate and may inquire into or try such case himself.
411. Making over or withdrawal of cases by Executive Magistrates - Any District Magistrate or Sub-Divisional Magistrate may-
- (a) make over, for disposal, any proceeding which has been started before him to any Magistrates subordinate to him;
- (b) withdraw any case from, or recall any case which he has made over to any Magistrate subordinate to him, and dispose of such proceeding himself, or refer it for disposal to any other Magistrate.
412. Reasons to be recorded - A Sessions Judge or Magistrate making an order under Section 408, Section 409, Section 410 or Section 411 shall record his reasons for making it.

46. Issue of warrants and action to be taken on them by the police.

(a) The court officer will ask the Magistrate to fix a date, when issuing a warrant, on which the police should return the warrant executed or report that this has not been done. The date should be so fixed as to allow the police a reasonable time for proper action in obedience to the warrant.

(b) If the warrant cannot be executed after due efforts a report to the Magistrate through the court officer must be submitted in time to reach the court without fail not later than the morning of the date fixed, explaining fully the attempts made to execute the warrant and giving all particulars necessary to satisfy the Magistrate that the offender is really absconding and to justify proceedings being taken under Sections 87 and 88, Criminal Procedure Code. A list of property, movable or immovable, belonging to the absconder will also be sent along with this report.

(c) Warrants of arrest will usually be directed to the police for execution, but in cases of urgency may be directed to court peons.

(d) Under Section 77 of the Criminal Procedure Code when issuing a warrant to a police officer, the court may address him either by name, or by the title of his office. A warrant intended to be executed by the police should be addressed not to the court officer but the officer in charge of a police station or outpost. If the officer thus addressed desires to entrust its execution to some other police officer, the endorsement must be by name and designation. It is moreover important that he should make his authority clear by adding the words "Officer in charge" after his signature. Warrants of arrest issued in non-cognizable cases to be executed by the police will be similarly dealt with. The court officer is responsible for the despatch of warrants to the officer in charge of a police station and outpost to whom they are addressed and it will be his duty to scrutinize all warrants received by him for despatch, and to bring to the notice of the Presiding Magistrate any case in which the process is unsuitably directed.

(c) Warrants should be sent by the court officer direct to police station except when a special officer is necessary for the duty to be performed, in which case the court officer should take the orders of the Superintendent of Police or Sub-divisional Police Officer or, in their absence, the Magistrate of the district or Sub-divisional Magistrate. They should, When executed, be returned to the court officer direct-see also Part V.

 - (b) is about to remove the whole or any part of his property from the local jurisdiction of the Court,
- it may order the attachment simultaneously with the issue of the proclamation.

84. Claims and objections to attachment - (1) If any claim is preferred to, or objection made to the attachment of, any property attached under Section 83, within six months from the date of such attachment, by any person other than the proclaimed person, on the ground that the claimant or objector has an interest in such property, and that such interest is not liable to attachment under Section 83, the claim or objection shall be inquired into, and may be allowed or disallowed whole or in part:

Provided that any claim preferred or - objection made within the period allowed by this sub-section may, in the event of the death of the claimant or objector, be continued by his legal representative.

- (2) Claims or objections under sub-section (1) may be preferred or made in the Court by which the order of attachment is issued or, if the claim or objection is in respect of property attached under an order endorsed under sub-section (2) of Section 83 in the Court of the Chief Judicial Magistrate of the district in which the attachment is made.

85. Release, sale and restoration of attached property - (1) If the proclaimed person appears within the time specified in the proclamation, the court shall make order releasing the property from the attachment.

- (2) If the proclaimed person does not appear within the time specified in, the proclamation, the property under the attachment shall be at the disposal of the State Government, but it shall not be sold until the expiration of six months from the date of the attachment and until the expiration of six months from the date of the attachment and until any claim preferred or objection made under Section 84 has been disposed of under that section, unless it is subject to speedy and natural decay, or the Court considers that the sale would be for the benefit of the owner; in either of which cases the Court may cause it to be sold whenever it thinks fit.

- (3) If, within two years from the date of the attachment, any person whose property is or has been at the disposal of the State Government, under sub-section (2), appears voluntarily or is apprehended and brought before the Court by whose order the property was attached, or the Court to which such court is subordinate, and proves to the satisfaction of such Court that he did not abscond or conceal himself for the purpose of avoiding execution of the warrant, and that he had not such notice of the proclamation as to enable him to attend within the time specified therein, such property, or, if the same has been sold, the net proceeds of the sale, or, if part only thereof has been sold, the net proceeds of the sale and the residue of the property, shall, after satisfying therefrom all costs incurred in consequence of the attachment, be delivered to him.

Section 77 of the Code of 1898 referred to in this Rule corresponds to Section 72 of the Code of 1973 reading as follows:

- “72. Warrants to whom directed - (1) A warrant of arrest shall ordinarily be directed to one or more police officers; but the Court issuing such a warrant may, if its immediate execution is necessary and no police officer is immediately available, direct it to any other person or persons, and such person or persons shall execute the same.
- (2) When a warrant is directed to more officers or persons than one, it may be executed by all, or by anyone or more of them.”

47. Proclamation and attachment.

(a) On receipt of a report of non-execution of a warrant the court officer will apply to the Magistrate for issue of proclamation and attachment under sections 87 and 88, Criminal Procedure Code, respectively, against the absconder. An application for action under Section 87, Criminal Procedure Code, should be made in all cases whether the accused has or has not any property as Section 87 is not dependent on Section 88 of that Code. Unless an absconder is proclaimed under Section 87, Criminal Procedure Code, a private person cannot arrest him without a warrant (Section 59, Criminal Procedure Code). There is no objection to the proclamation and attachment being issued simultaneously.

(b) Three copies of the proclamation should be obtained from the Magistrate's office—one for the Magistrate's court, one for the police station and the third for the absconder's village.

(c) Police officers must comply strictly with the provisions of Section 87, Criminal Procedure Code, relating to the publication of the proclamation. The court officer will affix the copy for the court house in the presence of witnesses and will submit a report to this effect. The station officer will (i) have the copy for the absconder's village duly read out in a conspicuous part of that village and afterwards posted up at the ordinary place of abode of absconder in the presence of some of the principal resident thereof, (ii) have the third copy put up on the notice board of the police station and (iii) submit a report that action has been taken accordingly giving the names of the witnesses.

(d) On receipt of the report if everything is in order; the court officer will move the Magistrate to record a proceeding stating that the proclamation was duly made and declaring the date on which it was made. The term of 30 days within which the absconder must appear (vide Section 87, Criminal Procedure Code), will run from the date so declared.

(e) Property of absconders other than land paying revenue to Government which is ordered to be attached, will be specified in the warrant of attachment. The court officer therefore must always take care to annex the list of property of the absconder furnished by the station officer, to his application for orders under Section 88, Criminal Procedure Code. When it is found that no property is specified in a warrant the court officer will bring the omission to the notice of the Magistrate. (See also Part V).

Notes - Sections 87 and 88 of the old Code correspond to Sections 82 to 84 of the new Code see Rule 46.

48. Disposal of the attached property of proclaimed offenders .

(a) If the accused does not appear within the time specified in the proclamation the Magistrate should be requested by the court officer to record proceedings declaring the property attached, to be at the disposal of the Government.

(b) If, however, the proclaimed person appears within the aforesaid time the court officer should move the Magistrate to pass an order releasing the property from attachment.

49. Recording of evidence under Section 512, Criminal Procedure Code.

(a) If all measures provided by law to compel the appearance of the absconding accused have failed, the police in important cases should apply to the Magistrate to summon the prosecutor and witnesses to appear before him on a fixed date for the purpose of having their evidence recorded under Section 512, Criminal Procedure Code.

(b) Court officer must report to the Superintendent of Police all persons' proclaimed in form No. 25 of Schedule XL(A) (Part I) and their particulars will be published in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette.

(c) The various steps taken from time to time to cause the appearance of an absconding accused should be briefly noted in the Magistrate's general register of cases (vide Rule 73 below).

NOTES

Section 512 of the Code of 1898 as referred to in this Rule corresponds to Section 299 of the 1973 Code reading as follows:-

"299. Record of evidence in absence of accused - (1) If it is proved that an accused person has absconded, and that there is no immediate prospect of arresting him, the Court competent to try (or commit for trial) such person for the offence complained of may, in his absence examine the witnesses (if any) produced on behalf of the prosecution and record their depositions and any such deposition may, on the arrest of such person, be given in evidence against him on the inquiry into, or trial for, the offence with which he is charged, if the deponent is dead or incapable of giving evidence or cannot be found or his presence cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable.

(2) If it appears that an offence punishable with death or imprisonment for life has been committed by some person or persons unknown, the High Court or the Sessions Judge may direct that any Magistrate of the first class shall hold an inquiry and examine any witnesses who can give evidence concerning the offence and any deposition so taken may be given in evidence against any person who is subsequently accused of the offence, if the deponent is dead or incapable of giving evidence or beyond the limits of India.

50. Despatch of verification rolls.

The court officer will despatch to the court officer of the district in which the house of the accused is believed to be situated or in which he is believed to have been convicted or where his antecedents are likely to be known, a verification statement in Form No. 115 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I). This application will be signed by the court officer and be despatched direct to the court officer concerned. The detachable foil of the form headed. "Notice of application for verification of antecedents of under trial prisoners within the province" will at the same time be sent to the Superintendent of Police concerned for information and necessary action. When however, the court officer from whom the information is required belongs to another province the application will be sent through the Superintendent of Police to whom the officer requiring the information is subordinate, and in such cases the detachable foil will not be sent.

Enquiries regarding persons previously convicted in Calcutta should be addressed by the court officers to the chief court officer, Presidency Police Court, Calcutta. Those regarding persons convicted in cases disposed of at the Sealdah and Alipore suburban police courts should be addressed to the sadar Court Inspector of the 24 Parganas, Alipore.

51. Action to be taken by court officer on receipt of verification roll.

On receipt of the verification application, which will be sent in a cover with the words "Verification application" prominently marked in red ink, the court officer to whom it is addressed will at once consult his indexes to the conviction register, record in the application the result of his search and will return the application direct to the officer from whom he received it, by return of post, if possible. In no circumstances should it be detained for more than four days. (b) Action by the circle Inspector and the sub-divisional police officer in forwarding final memoranda - In forwarding to the Superintendent of Police the final memoranda in charge sheet cases and cases under Sections 109 and 110 the circle Inspector and sub-divisional police officer if any, will record their recommendation for surveillance and any remarks they may consider necessary regarding the conduct of the police, the adequacy of the sentence and in cases ending in acquittal or discharge, the failure of the prosecution.

NOTE

75. Instructions for writing final memoranda.

In all cases in which the real names or residences of persons charged with offences under Chapter's XII and XVII and Sections 215, 489-A, 489-B, 489-C, and 489-D of the Indian Penal Code, are not known, the entries should be made in red ink. When cases end in acquittal, or discharge, the reason therefore will be noted briefly on the back of the final memorandum and a full copy of judgment will be attached. A copy of any comment made by a magistrate or judge on the conduct of the police, whether complimentary or adverse, must be attached to each copy of the memorandum.

In order to ensure that the descriptive roll of a convict, as given in the court conviction register, should agree with that given in the history sheet continued in Part V of the village crime note book, court officers when sending the final memoranda of cases which have ended in conviction, will note on the back of the outer foil of each final memorandum, the descriptive roll of the convict which has been entered in their court conviction register.

76. Compilation of annual crime returns.

In August or September court officers will compile and check the figures for the annual returns for the first half-year; in November these figures will be brought up to the end of the third quarter and in December up to the end of November to avoid delay in submission of the returns. Sub-divisional court officers must submit the annual crime returns relating to the sub-division in a complete and correct form, together with a short note of important cases. If, after the returns have been examined at headquarters, the Superintendent of Police considers that in order to reconcile discrepancies the presence of the sub-divisional court officer is necessary, he may direct him to come to headquarters but should not detain him for more than a week. If an assistant sub-inspector or junior sub-inspector attached to the sub-divisional court staff can explain the discrepancies, he should be sent for in preference to the officer in charge of the court. (See also Part II).

77. Khatian register.

(a) To facilitate the preparation of the annual crime statements a Khatian register composed of compilation sheets in form No. 119 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I) will be kept at each headquarters and sub-divisional court. Each description of crime to which a separate serial number is assigned in the classified list of crime should have consolidated sheets for all police stations and independent out posts. Offences which are very rare may perhaps not require many sheets while cases entered under serials Nos. 29 and 33 and some others may require more sheets. A reference to the statistics of past years will indicate fairly accurately the amount of space to be allotted for each serial for all police stations and outposts.

(b) (i) Cognizable cases taken up by the police suo motu upon report and otherwise than upon report and also cognizable cases of a petty nature in which first Information reports are not sent in, including cases under Sections 109 and 110, Cr. P. C., should be shown in columns 3 to 13 of the Khatian; the total of these columns will give figures for the corresponding columns 4 to 14 of Statement A, Part I. Cognizable cases instituted on complaints made to a magistrate, whether referred by him to the police or not, will, if found true, be shown in column 14 and, if they result in conviction, in column 15 also but nowhere else. If found untrue and dropped by the magistrate, they will not appear in the register or statement. The possible case of a complaint made to a magistrate and referred to and found false by the police which nevertheless is taken up by the magistrate and results in a conviction will appear both in columns 14 and 15.

(ii) Cases in which first information reports are submitted are recorded in the general register of cases, and from this register should be gathered the information for the Khatian with respect to such cases. Cognizable cases instituted by complaint or petition to a magistrate, and referred to the police for investigation, are also entered in the general register, and will be shown in the Khatian in red ink, but will not be entered in Statement A, Part I.

(iii) Cognizable cases under municipal, railway and telegraph bye-laws, cases under Section 34 of the Police Act (V of 1861), Section 120 of the Indian Railways Act, IX of 1890, and under Sections 109 and 110, C. P.C., are not reported in first information reports, vide Part V, and are consequently not entered in the general register of cases. These cases are however entered in the magistrate's register of unimportant cases in which no first information report is used as also in the similar register now maintained in the court office and for the purpose of their entry in the Khatian and inclusion in the annual Statement A, Part I, the former register should always be consulted.

(c) Cases pending with the police and before the magistrates and the sessions courts at the close of the year should be shown in columns 3 and 9 of the Khatian and should be brought forward in red ink in the register of the following year.

(d) When entering a case from the magistrate's general register, register of miscellaneous cases, or from the register of non-first information cases, the number of the entry in column 1 of the compilation sheet should be noted in the column of remarks in the register from which the entry is made, thus creating a perfect link between the registers and the compilation sheets.

NOTES

For text of Section 109 and 110 of Cr. P. C., see Rule 13.

(e) District and sub-divisional magistrates will direct the ministerial officer who keeps the registers of miscellaneous cases and of cases in which no first information reports are used to let the court officer have the book for a short time every day and give him a note of the cases decided since the previous day in order that the Khatian may be written up.

(f) At the end of the year separate totals should be made of black ink entries of completed offences and of attempts. Annual Statement A, Parts I and II, will be prepared from these black ink entries in the Khatian. Separate totals must also be made of the red ink entries to show the cases instituted by complaint to magistrate which were referred to the police for investigation and which are not to be entered in Statement A, Part I, but will serve for the preparation of the departmental report.

As attempts, except under Serial No. 29, are not likely to be many in number, it will be sufficient to make a list of cases of attempts in one of the spare columns at the end of the Khatian form.

(g) The Khatian register should never be allowed to fall into arrears. It should be totalled quarterly.

(h) On receipt of intimation that an appeal has been lodged, the court officer will write a large "A" in red ink on the left hand side of column 1 of the Khatian register against the entry concerned, and when the final result of appeal is known, the necessary alterations, if any, will be made in the columns relating to convictions and acquittals, lastly in one of the spare columns of the Khatian register will be entered the number of cases and persons acquitted by the magistrate, Sessions Judge, Or High Court. The court officer will initial his Khatian register twice: first, when he writes "A" opposite case, the and the second time when he enters the final result of the appeal.

(i) After the close of the year, the court officer will satisfy himself by personal enquiries that he has entered in the Khatian register the result of all appeals finally decided up to the 31st December.

(j) The register will be closed on the 31st December. Pending cases will then be brought forward and entered in the register of the new year.

NOTES

Section 106 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this rule read as follows:

- "106. Security for keeping the peace on conviction. – (1) When a Court of Session or Court of a Magistrate of the first class convicts a person of any of the offences specified in sub-section (2) or of abetting any such offence and is of opinion that it is necessary to take security from such person for keeping the peace, the Court may, at the time of passing sentence on such person, order him to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for keeping the peace for such period, not exceeding three years, as it thinks fit.
- (2) The offences referred to in sub-section (1) are –
- (a) any offence punishable under Chapter VIII of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), other than an offence punishable under Section 153-A or Section 153-B or Section 154 thereof.
 - (b) any offence which consists of, or includes, assault or using criminal force or committing mischief;
 - (c) any offence of criminal intimidation;

- (d) any other offence which caused or was intended or known to be likely to cause, a breach of the peace.
- (3) If the conviction is set aside on appeal or otherwise, the bond so executed shall become void.
- (4) An order under this section may also be made by an Appellate Court or by a Court when exercising its powers of revision.

Section 247 of Cr. P. C. as referred to in this Rule corresponds to Section 256 of the 1973 Code, reading as follows:

"256. Non-appearance or death of complainant - (1) If the summons has been issued on complaint, and on the day appointed for the appearance of the accused or any day subsequent thereto to which the hearing may be adjourned, the complainant does not appear, the Magistrate shall, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, acquit the accused, unless for some reason he thinks it proper to adjourn the hearing of the case to some other day:

Provided that where the complainant is represented by a pleader or by the officer conducting the prosecution or where the Magistrate is of opinion that the personal attendance of the complainant is not necessary, the Magistrate may dispense with his attendance and proceed with the case.

- (2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall so far as may be, apply also to cases where the non-appearance of the complainant is due to his death,

Section 457 of the Indian Penal Code deals with lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night in order to commit offence punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years. The ingredients of the offence are as follows:-

- (1) The accused committed lurking house-trespass by night or housebreaking by night.
- (2) It was done to commit an offence punishable with imprisonment.
- (3) It was intended to commit theft.

To support the conviction under this section it is necessary to prove first that there was lurking house-trespass by night or house-breaking by night. The second ingredient is that the house-trespass or house-breaking was in order to commit an offence punishable with imprisonment, AIR 1971 SC 1254 (Nasiruddin).

Section 380 deals with the offence of theft in dwelling house etc. and the punishment prescribed is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Section 511 of I.P.C. deals with punishment for attempting to commit offences punishable with imprisonment for life or other imprisonment.

"Attempt" clearly conveys with it the idea that if the attempt has succeeded, the offence charged with would have been committed. In attempt must be to do that which, if successful, would amount to felony charged, AIR 1961 SC 1698 (Abhyananand Mishra). An attempt to commit a crime is an act done with intent to commit that crime, and forming part of a series of act, which would constitute it actual commission if it were not interrupted. The point at which such a series of acts being cannot be defined; but depends upon the circumstances of each particular case. An act done with intent to commit a crime, the commission of which in the manner proposed was, in fact, impossible is an attempt to commit that crime. The offence of attempting to commit a crime may be committed in cases in which the offender voluntarily desists from the actual commission of the crime itself, AIR 1961 SC 1698 (supra) and AIR 1973 SC 2655 (Sudhir Kumar Mukherjee). Preparation to commit an offence is not punishable, AIR 1970 SC 713 (Malkiat Singh).

NOTE

For Sections 215, 489-A, 489-B, 489-C and 489-D of Indian Penal Code (See under Rule 14).

(d) $\overset{\text{P.R.}}{\text{-----}}$ prisoners how to be entered - When a convict is made "P. R." or $\overset{\text{PR}}{\text{-----}}$ by a

Superintendent of Police or is ordered by a magistrate to notify after release from jail, his residence or change of residence, under Section 565, Cr. P. C., the letters "P. R.", $\overset{\text{"P.R."}}{\text{-----}}$ or $\overset{\text{"P.R."}}{\text{-----}}$ 565", as the case may be, will be entered against his name in the remarks column in red ink.

NOTE

Section 565 corresponds to Section 356 of the new Code - for text See under Rule 72.

(e) Entries of convictions how to be made at sub-division - At subdivisions, entries of convictions which are to be made as they occur during the month on loose sheets of the printed form will be forwarded in original to the headquarters court with a certificate from the sub-divisional officer, as laid down in Rule 84 within the first week of the following month, to be filled with the conviction sheets of the sadar sub-division at the end of the entries for the same month.

83. Index to the conviction register.

An index to the conviction register in Form No. 122 of Schedule XL(A), Part I for the whole district will be kept at headquarters courts only in the prescribed forms –

1. Name of convict, with aliases, if any, and caste.
2. Father's name.
3. Page and volume of register in which the conviction is entered.

The page and volume and year of the index should be entered under each man's name in the conviction register.

In column 3 of the index should be entered the page and volume of the conviction register against each name.

At the close of each month after the sub-divisional conviction sheets (vide proceeding rule) are received, the sadar court officer will prepare an index for the whole district.

The index for every five years will be kept in a bound book.

The sadar court officer should search the index of this register in the case of every accused person sent up to see whether he has been previously convicted or not, and he should certify on the back of the charge sheet form that he has done so.

Sub-divisional court officers are not required to give such certificates as there will be no index to the conviction register maintained at subdivisions.

They will be required to note carefully the certificate given by the station officer and when they find that a person is sent up for trial charged with an offence under Chapter XII or XVII of the Indian Penal Code punishable with imprisonment for 3 years or more, from a police station or outpost other than that in which he resides or has his home, a verification roll in Form No. 115 of Schedule XL(A), (Part I) will be sent direct to the sadar court officer for necessary action as laid down in Rule 50.

84. Weekly verification by magistrate and the Custody of the conviction register.

(a) Weekly verification by magistrate - The conviction sheets should be put up once a week, for examination and signature, before the sub-divisional magistrate at sub-divisions and at headquarters before the magistrate to whom the duty is made over by the Deputy Commissioner.

The sub-divisional magistrate and at headquarters the magistrate to whom the duty is made over will certify at the close of each month, that the entries in the monthly conviction sheet have been checked with the magistrate's general and complaint registers, and that all entries required to be made have been made.

(b) Custody - The completed volumes of the register, after they have been neatly bound, will be kept in the magistrate's record room or other safe place, the current volume and the index only being kept by the court officer in his office under safe custody.

85. System of indexing names.

The following system of indexing names is to be adopted. It has been devised with a view to obviate the confusion arising from the uncertainty as to the spelling of vernacular names in English, more specially as regards the employment of vowels and semi-vowels:

- (i) The letters of the alphabet are divided into 15 groups of initial letters, and as the number of names under each of these may be large they are further subdivided into a greater or less number or subordinate groups. This system, it will be observed, takes no heed of medial vowels, the determination of the subordinate group being regulated solely by the consonant which terminates the first syllable of the name. Thus, in searching for Maniruddin, the pages allotted to initial letter group (M) must be turned to, the name itself being found on page or pages sub-allotted to subordinate letter group (N), the letter (N) being taken as terminating the initial syllable of Maniruddin. Other examples will be found in the explanation to the key in Appendix B.

Study of the key will show the number of pages to be allotted to each initial letter group; the subordinate letter groups which require separate space and the subordinate letter groups which may be lumped together for the purpose of allotting page space.

- (ii) It will be seen that the key gives all the above details for a register containing 586 pages. With a register containing 100 pages only, the distribution for initial letters would be (vowel group) 12 pages; (B, Bh) 12 pages; (Ch, Chh) 3½ pages; (D, Dh) 5½ pages; (G, Gh,) 5½ pages; (H) 4 ½ pages; (J, Jh or Z) 5 ½ pages; (K, Kh) 9 pages; (L) 3 2/3 pages; (M) 9 pages; (N) 4 ½ pages; (P, Ph or F) 5 pages; (R, Rh) 8 pages; (S, Sh) 9 ½ pages; (T, Th) 3 ½ pages. The above figures are given to serve as a guide in allotting space in any register which may be opened. As it would be found inconvenient in practice to have fractions of pages, the register selected should consist of not less than 300 pages and the whole pages should be allotted.
- (iii) It will further be seen from the key that where the vowel, including semi vowel or (B, Bh) are the initial letters of a name, the page-space allotted to these groups has been sub-divided amongst 14 subordinate letter groups. The necessity for such minute subdivision is obvious as each of these two, i.e., vowel and (B, Bh) initial letter groups contains 12 percent of the total number of names registered. If initial letter (L), the number of names under which is relatively small, be referred to in the key, it will be observed that several subordinate letter groups have been lumped together, there being only 5 subdivisions of the page-space allotted to the (L) group, instead of 14 subdivisions, as in the case of the (B, Bh) group.
- (iv) As this key represents the result of indexing over 8,000 names, the allotment and sub-allotment of page-space shown in it may be taken as a guide.
- (v) It must be understood that words like Maulavi, Shaikh, Syed Meer, Meerza often treated as an integral part of native names are in reality honorifics and must not be taken into account in classifying; thus the name Maulavi Fakiruddin should be indexed as Fakiruddin Maulavi. Where names begin with a compound letter the initial letter only determines the group thus:- Krishna will be found under the (K, Kh) initial letter group and subordinate group (S, Sh) Brojendra under the (B, Bh) initial letter group, subordinate group (J., Jh, Z). The W or O terminating words like Deo, Bhow, Shew or Sheo is for indexing purposes treated as (b) thus, Deo will be entered under initial letter group (D, Dh), subordinate group (B, Bh), and so forth.

Certain proper names which begin with a consonant and contain no other consonant, such as Howa, Dhuia, Doya, Gui, etc., and are not followed by a name, not a class name or honorific, should be indexed under the first group of the initial letters. etc., Howa under initial letter group H, and sub-group letter (B, Bh), Dhuia under initial group (D) and sub-group letter (B, Bh) and so on. When such names are followed by names not class names or honorifics, such as Jaygopal Gyaram. etc., they should be indexed in the usual way. i.e., Jaygopal under initial letter group (J, Jh, Z) and sub-group (G, Gh), and so on.

Certain words which, though identical in themselves are pronounced differently by village people, such as Panchu, Pachu, Lakhan. Luchman, Wilayet, Bilayet etc., should be entered and searched for under the initial and group letters for both spellings. Thus for Panchu. groups (P, Ph and C, Ch) and (P, Ph and N) should be examined, and so on. Names such as Hridoy, Hrishi, which are sometimes spelt with R which is the most distinct sound should be indexed under initial letter group (H) and subgroup (r) or (rh) Where persons are convicted under a name and an alias, both name and alias are to be separately indexed.

86. Cross-references how to be made.

In cases where the same man has been convicted more than once, cross-references should be made against each conviction, thus, the name of Hyder Ali, son of Mean Bux, may be found at page 25, again at page 28, again at page 30. The cross-reference should be marked as below:-

Cf. 28 - 30 Volume I, Hyder Ali, son of Mean Bux.

At page 28 –

Cf. 25 - 30, Volume I, Hyder Ali, son of Mean Bux.

At page 30 –

Cf. 25 - 28, Volume I, Hyder Ali, son of Mean Bux.

The index must be carefully examined and when the same name occurs in more places than one, cross-references should be noted in red ink on the left of the name, the page, number and year, of conviction register being given in black ink on the right as usual. This will ensure all convictions against Hyder Ali being found.

87. Elimination of names of deceased persons and striking off of those periods acquitted On appeal.

Elimination of names of deceased persons - At the close of each year all station officers will submit to the headquarters court, lists of persons whose names have been removed during the year, see Part V. The headquarters court officer will, after making the necessary correction in his register, forward the lists to the Superintendent of Police who will satisfy himself that the register and index have been corrected.

Names of persons acquitted on appeal will be struck off the index as soon as intimation is received by the court offices.

88. Register of cases committed to sessions.

In order that information regarding cases committed to the sessions and High Court and the results of trials may be available in a concise form and to facilitate the registering of convictions at sessions court, court officers at headquarters of districts will keep up a register of cases committed to the sessions in Form No. 123 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I).

89. Register of processes dealt with by the police.

This register should be kept in form No. 124 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I) in two parts or volumes, one for warrants, including fine warrants, and one for summonses and all other processes. The serial number of entries in the register of processes should be annual. When a warrant has been executed or withdrawn or the accused has surrendered, the fact should be noted in the remarks column of the register. This will make it easy to pick out the warrants still pending. At the end of each year all warrants and processes will be brought forward into the new year's register in red ink bearing their original numbers.

The register, at sadar will then be sent to the Superintendent of Police's office, and the red ink entries will be carefully compared with the entries in the absconder's register, so as to ensure that there are no omissions in the latter register.

In sub-divisions instead of sending the register in original a copy of the red ink entries will be sent in January to the office of the Superintendent of Police for comparison with the absconder's register.

90. Receipt book of money, property and prisoners.

This will be kept in manuscript at sadar and also at sub-divisional court offices. In it will be entered the names of prisoners sentenced to imprisonment; their warrants, money and personal property, and the receipt for the same will be obtained from the jailor.

91. Registers of papers received and despatched.

Court officers will keep registers of papers received and despatched in Form Nos. 1 and 10 of Schedule II, in which only papers not entered in any other register, such as verification rolls, monthly copies of station cash accounts, etc., will be recorded.

92. Counterfoil book of receipts.

This will be kept in Form No. 50 of Schedule II. For every sum received by a court officer he must grant a printed receipt cheque, signed by himself, to the person depositing the money.

93. Magistrate's order to police.

(a) A magistrate directing an investigation to be made by the police under Section 155, Cr. P. C., in a case which is not cognizable by the police will send a copy of his order to the court officer for transmission with a copy of the complaint to the officer concerned. In every case referred to the police for investigation under Section 155 or 202, Cr. P. C., a date should be fixed by the magistrate by which the report or an explanation of the cause of delay is to reach him. The complainant will be informed of the date so fixed and directed to appear before the investigating officer at the scene of occurrence. The court officer will bring to the notice of the sub-divisional police officer or circle Inspector at a sub-division or of the Superintendent of Police at the headquarters any irregular order which in turn should be brought to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner by the Superintendent of Police where necessary. All such orders should find entry in the registers of letters received and despatched.

(b) Court officers on receipt of instructions from a magistrate under Section 155 or 202, Cr. P. C., ordering an enquiry to be made by the Police in cases falling under Chapter XX of the Indian Penal Code "offences relating to marriage" should invariably bring to the notice of the court the Government orders indicating that enquiries in such cases in which the parties are muhammadans may conveniently be made by muhammadan sub-registrars, muhammadan marriage registrars and selected muhammadan panchayats.

(c) Under Sections 155 and 202, Cr. P. C., only a magistrate of the 1st or 2nd class can order the police to investigate.

NOTES

Sections 155 and 202 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as referred to in this rule read as follows :

- "155. Information as to non-cognizable cases and investigation of such cases – (1) When information is given to an officer in charge of a police station of the commission within the limits of such station of a non-cognizable offence, he shall enter or cause to be entered the substance of the information in a book to be kept by such officer in such form as the State Government may prescribe in this behalf, and refer the informant to the Magistrate.
- (2) No police officer shall investigate a non-cognizable case without the order of a Magistrate having power to try such case or commit the case for trial.
- (3) Any police officer receiving such order may exercise the same powers in respect of the investigation (except the power to arrest without warrant) as an officer in charge of a Police Station may exercise in a cognizable case.
- (4) Where a case relates to two or more offences of which at least one is cognizable the case shall be deemed to be a cognizable case, notwithstanding that the other offences are non-cognizable.
- "202. Postponement of issue of process - (1) Any Magistrate, on receipt of a complaint of an offence which he is authorised to take cognizance or which has been made over to him under Section 192, may, if he thinks fit, postpone the issue of process against the accused, and either inquire into the Case himself or direct an investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for the purpose of deciding whether or not there is sufficient ground for proceeding :

Provided that no such direction for investigation shall be made –

- (a) where it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session; or
 - (b) where the complaint has not been made by a Court, unless the complainant and the witnesses present (if any) have been examined on oath under Section 200.
- (2) In any inquiry under sub-section (1), the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, take evidence of witnesses on oath:

Provided that if it appears to the Magistrate that the offence complained of is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, he shall call upon the complainant to produce all his witnesses and examine them on oath.

- (3) If any investigation under sub-section (1) is made by a person not being a police officer, he shall have for that investigation all the powers conferred by this Code of an officer in charge of a police station except the power to arrest without warrant.

Offence relating to marriage are dealt with under Chapter XX of the Indian Penal Code (Sections 493 to 498).

94. Half-yearly statement of serious crime and reconvicted persons, etc.

(a) In the statement of serious crime will be shown all cases under the headings given in Form No. 125, Schedule XL(A) (Part I) whether reported to the police or a magistrate –

- (i) which have been reported during the half year;
- (ii) which have been declared true by a magistrate during the half year.

Pending cases for the previous half-years, which have been declared to be true during the half-year for which the return is due, will be shown in column 3 (1). Column 7 to 12 of the form refer to cases dealt within the return while the information required by the footnote refers to all cases, true or false, whether included in the return or not. (Correction Slip No. 49, dated 4-5-1946).

The number of cases declared true during the corresponding half-year of the previous year shown in column 3 and 3 (a) of that half-year should be shown in column 5 and (a new) column 5 (a) respectively of the return of serious crime under review. (Correction Slip No. 49, dated 4-5-1946).

(b) One copy of the return (Form No. 125, Schedule XL(A) (Part I) should be forwarded to the Special Superintendent, Criminal Investigation Department and another to the Commissioner not later than the 15th of January and 15th of July, respectively. Both the copies should be forwarded through the Deputy Commissioner.

(c) On receipt of all the returns, the Special Superintendent, Criminal Investigation Department, will prepare a review in which he will examine and criticise the figures for the whole province, and where necessary, the figures for any particular district. He should then submit his review to the Inspector General.

(d) Under the head "Burglary" only cases which come under Nos. 29 and 37 of statement A, Part I, will be included. Thefts and burglary cases not investigated under Section 157 (b), Cr. P. c., will also be included. An explanation of the fluctuations in burglaries and theft should be given whenever possible. The explanation should be supported by figures as far as possible; thus when a rise in price is adduced as an explanation, the actual prices of grain for the periods under comparison should be given.

(e) Riots attended with murder will be shown under the head 'Riot' and not "Murder". Similarly dacoities attended with murder will be shown under the head "Dacoity" and not "Murder".

Note 1 - In distinguishing between professional and technical dacoities, the intention and not the character of the offenders has to be considered and the assumption must be that every dacoity is professional until it can be shown to be technical. A dacoity committed for the sake of gain is usually professional; a dacoity committed for some ulterior motive, e.g., to enforce a claim or coerce a ryot is technical.

Note 2 - Superintendent of Railway Police will submit this return direct to the Special Superintendent of police in charge of Criminal Investigation Department, and no copy need be sent by him to the Deputy Commissioners or Commissioners of Divisions. The return shall be submitted in Form No. 125-A, Schedule XL(A) (Part I), but the other connected returns shall be the same as for the district police.

C., were instituted should be submitted to the Special Superintendent, in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department, along with the half-yearly statement of serious crime. - (2) An order may be made under sub-section (1) for the delivery of any property to any person claiming to be entitled to the possession thereof, without any condition or on condition that he executes a bond, with or without sureties, to the satisfaction of the Court, engaging to restore such property to the Court if tile order made under sub-section (1) is modified or set aside on appeal or revision.
- (3) A court of Session may, instead of itself making an order under sub-section (1), direct the property to be delivered to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, who shall thereupon deal with it in the manner provided in Sections 457, 458 and 459.

NOTES

Section 403 of I. P. C. deals with the offence of dishonest misappropriation of property, for which the punishment prescribed is imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both. The ingredients for the offence under this section are:

- (1) The movable property belonged to the complainant.
- (2) Accused misappropriated that property and converted the same to his own use.
- (3) He did so dishonestly.

101. Summons to police officers.

Whenever a summons to appear as a witness in a criminal case is issued against a police officer it should be served upon such officer through the Superintendent of Police of the district, or the sub-divisional police officer or in the case of officers of the Government Railway Police, through the officer in charge of the Government Railway Police Station concerned. Prosecuting officers should always see that police witnesses are not unnecessarily detained.

The High Court has intimated that, upon a proper application being made in each case to the Judge exercising the original criminal jurisdiction of the court, the convenience of public officers summoned as witnesses in cases before the High Court from the mufassil will always be duly considered.

Note - A civil court may, if it considers that the summons may be most conveniently so served on a public officer either as a defendant or witness, send it for service to the head of the office in which the officer is employed together with a copy to be retained by officer summoned. (Vide Order V, Rule 27 and Order XVI, Rule 8 of the Civil Procedure Code (Act V of 1908).

- (b) The "rolled" prints should show the complete contour of the bulbs of the fingers; one delta in the case of "loops" and two in the case of "whorls" should be visible.
- (c) The "rolled" print of each finger must be taken in the space allotted for that finger and the impression should not project beyond that space. The impression of the upper phalange of the finger only should appear.
- (d) All names of persons and places should be hand printed in block capitals, all entries should be as concise as possible, and in the case of the record slip the convictions should be entered in chronological order.
- (e) Deformities, cuts, scars, and disease marks interfering with the "legibility" of an impression should be given in definite detail both in the search and record slips, viz.:-

- (1) Position, dimension, direction.
- (2) Permanent or temporary, cut or puncture, burn or healed sore.

Subjects suffering from open cuts or scars in any of the upper phalanges of the finger should not (if this can be arranged) have the prints of such finger taken until the cuts or scars have healed.

- (f) Finger prints of lepers are not to be taken on any account. Persons suffering from a contagious or infectious disease should not have their finger prints taken until they have completely recovered. Whenever an officer abstains from taking a record slip for any of the above reasons he must obtain a medical certificate to support his action, and forward it to the finger print bureau.
- (g) The finger print slips of females, whether sent for search or for record, must bear the word "female" in red ink on the side of the slip which contains the impressions.
- (h) The finger print slip of one person should be completed before that of another is commenced, otherwise there is a risk of some of the particulars appertaining to one person being entered in the slip of another.
- (i) Finger print slips of railway thieves and wandering criminals must bear the words "Railway thief" or "Wandering criminal" as the case may be.

115. Finger print appliances and their preparation.

(a) The appliances for taking finger prints comprise a tin slab, an Indian-rubber roller and a pot of printer's ink which should be kept at each police station, court and reserve office. These must be kept scrupulously clean and free from dust, grit, or hairs the presence of which will spoil any impressions taken. The slabs should be freshly cleaned before use every day, all particles of old ink being rubbed off and a note as to this having been made in the general diary, vide Part V. The roller, when not in use, should be wrapped up in a piece of clean oiled paper. Both slab and roller should be periodically cleaned with soap, benzene or kerosene, however, should be used with care on a rubber roller, as it tends to damage the rubber unless wiped off carefully without delay. The pot of ink should be tightly closed when not in use to prevent evaporation.

(b) The slab must be perfectly smooth and should be wiped free of dust before use. A small quantity of the ink should then be put on the slab with the point of a knife and the roller used to bring it down to the finest possible film so that the tin is dimly visible through the ink. Experience has shown that it is easier to start with a small quantity of ink and to increase it as may be found necessary. If too much ink has been put on the slab, a sheet of paper laid on it and rolled over with roller will generally reduce it sufficiently. If the ink is dry and thick it should be thinned with a little oil, when it will be found that with a little preservative it can be worked up smooth on the slab.

An emergency substitute for printer's ink, should this not be available, can be made by mixing lampblack or soot with a small quantity of oil, of indelible ink such as is used for rubber stamps may be used.

2. During the last week of every month the Superintendent of Police should examine the Court Conviction Register for persons whose photo should be taken for record and in the first week of the following month he should send a list of these criminals to the Deputy Inspector General of Police with their full names and aliases, particulars of their parentage with aliases, residences (Present and former), convictions, names of jail in which they are confined and probable dates of release. In submitting the list the Superintendent of Police will state the number of photos required.

3. In case where the accused whose photograph is to be taken is sentenced to a short term of imprisonment (six months or under) early intimation should be given to the Deputy Inspector General of Police to enable him to arrange for the photographer to visit the jail in question at an early date.

4. Photographs shall ordinarily be taken of the head and shoulder only, in full-face and profile and of quarter plate size. The Photographer will take every precaution to see that the facial characteristics of original are clearly brought out in both positions.

5. A register will be maintained in the photographs Bureau in the following form :-

Serial No.	Name with aliases	Father's name with aliases	Residence (Permanent and former)	Date and place on which photo was taken	C.I.D.H/S. No.	Particulars of convictions	Modus operandi	Distribution of photos to districts -	Remarks
------------	--------------------------	-----------------------------------	----------------------------------	---	----------------	----------------------------	----------------	---------------------------------------	---------

6. The name of the criminal to be photographed as well as the serial number allotted to him in the above register should be written on a slate in large characters which will be photographed with the criminal.

7. In order to ensure that the photo of the right individual is taken, a criminal should be identified by the Jailor, should he be in jail or by police officer not below the rank of Assistant Sub-Inspector if he be at large, and the signature of the Jailor or Police Officer, taken on the slate, together with the date on which the photograph is taken.

8. A card index will be maintained in the photographic Bureau and the names, with aliases of all persons whose photographs have been taken will be indexed - the index card of each individual bearing full particulars of his parentage, address (present and former) and also his negative number i.e., the serial number allotted to him in the register referred to in paragraph 5.

9. A copy of each photograph should be kept, pasted serially in an album and also in the C.I.D. History Sheet of the criminal concerned. The names, father's name with aliases and residence of each criminal should be entered under each photograph in the album.

10. Ordinarily three sets of photographs full face and profile, of each criminal should be sent to the districts concerned (one set to be pasted in the history sheet, another set to be kept pasted in an album at the police station concerned, and the other set for the office of the Superintendent of Police). In special cases, such as those of active criminals whose area of operations is extensive and includes several districts or police station jurisdictions, extra copies will be issued to the Superintendent of Police of the district concerned on demand or as the Deputy Inspector General of Police considers necessary.

11. When any photograph is taken for the purpose of identification by any photographer, other than an officer of the photographic department an officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector shall be present when the photograph is taken and also when the negative is developed and the prints are taken. When the number of prints required has been completed, the Sub-Inspector shall take possession of the negative and prints and forward the negative in a sealed cover to the Court Officer for safe custody in the Magistrate's Malkhana.

A photograph intended for the purpose of identification should be placed in a sealed cover with eight or ten photographs of other persons, taken under similar circumstances and despatched to the officer who conducts the identification with instructions that the packed should not be opened until the time of identification and then only in the presence of witnesses whose identification is to be tested.

12. Negatives sent by post should be carefully packed in soft paper and enclosed in a wooden box. Card-board boxes should not be used owing to the danger of damage in transit].

116-A. Taking of measurements and photographs and the preservation of their records.

Measurements (including finger prints) and photographs should always be taken and the records thereof preserved by police officers in accordance with the following rules framed by the Local Government under Section 8 of the Identification of Prisoner's Act, 1920 (Act XXXIII of 1920).

Rules

1. A Magistrate shall not, under Section 5 of the Act, order a photograph of any person to be taken by a police officer unless he is satisfied that such photograph is required for circulation to different places, or for exhibition, for the purpose of identification to witnesses who cannot easily be brought for test identification to the place where the investigation is proceeding.

2. Measurements and photographs shall invariably be taken in or alongside the court police office or inside a police station or jail or in any other suitable place where proper supervision of criminals, and suspects can be exercised. In no case shall they be taken in view of tile public.

3. Measurements shall be taken in the following manner.

(i) Finger impressions -

(a) Rolled prints of the right hand shall be taken first; each finger being inked and impressed before the next finger is inked, when the rolled prints of the right hand have been taken, the operator shall take the plain prints of four fingers of that hand simultaneously. When the right hand is finished, the operator shall proceed to take rolled and plain prints of the left hand in a similar manner.

The rolled prints shall show the complete contour of the bulb of the fingers.

(b) If a finger is missing or so deformed that it is impossible to obtain an impression, the fact shall be noted in the space allotted for that finger by the words "Missing" or "Deformed". In the case of double fingers the prints of both the fingers shall, if possible, be taken but the print of the more prominent of the two, invariably.

(c) Impressions shall be taken generally with printer's ink.

(d) Before inking, the fingers shall be cleaned with a rag moistened with either kerosene oil or turpentine and rubbed dry. The inking shall be done by a light application of the inked roller just sufficient to allow of a thin film of ink on the ridges of the finger. The inner portion of the phalanges of the fingers only shall be inked.

(e) A rolled print is obtained by placing the inked finger on the paper, so that the plane of the nail is at right angles to the plane of the paper and turned over, so that the bulb which originally faced, say to the left, faces to the right, the plane of the nail being again at right angles to the paper. [For convenience in taking rolled prints, the slip should be folded at the lines indicated, and the fold placed in line with the edge of a table.]

(ii) Foot-print impressions -

A tin slab shall be inked with printer's ink by means of a roller. The person to be measured shall be barefooted and shall place each foot in turn first on to inked slab and then upon a sheet of paper, kept ready at hand.

(iii) Height -

A measurement of height shall be obtained by making the person to be measured stand erect, barefooted and bareheaded on a measuring standard and recording his actual height.

4. When a person is being photographed under the provisions of Section 3, he shall wear his ordinary every day attire, or, if he has been convicted of personation, the usual attire of the person or class of persons personated.

5. The records of measurement and photographs shall be preserved as follows:-

- (1) during investigation, by the investigating police officer,
- (2) during trial, by the police officer conducting the prosecution (hereinafter called the court officer);
- (3) after the termination of the investigation of trial:-
 - (a) if not required to form part of a judicial record and not required to be preserved for permanent record, they shall be filed with the police papers connected with the case and destroyed eventually with those papers;
 - (b) if required to form part of a judicial record, they shall be filed with the record;
 - (c) if not required to form part of a judicial record but required as a permanent record they shall be preserved by the court officer until despatched to the Criminal Investigation Department by which department they shall be finally kept.

Note - The rules regarding the safe custody of case diaries shall apply in cases (1), (2) and (3) (a) and (c).

117. Duties of the investigating police - Use of finger print system in investigation.

A. The tracing of a man's identity by means of his finger prints is of the greatest assistance in the detection of crime - It is, therefore, important that all police officers concerned in the investigation of crime and preparation of charge-sheets should have recourse to this aid whenever possible. They will make search slip references (Form No. 10, Schedule XL(A) (Part II) the various finger print bureaux enumerated in Rule 123 to trace out the history and antecedents of all unidentified persons, suspected or accused of a criminal offence.

B. Information to be supplied to court police regarding search references - (a) When no search references are made the police, station they will furnish, when forwarding the accused to court or sending him up on a charge sheet, such information in writing to the court officer as is required for the latter's guidance for making a search reference immediately when necessary according to Rule 123, (b) when a search slip has been issued by the station police, the fact together with the names of the bureaux referred to will be communicated to the court officer and the replies will also be sent to the latter.

C. Officers competent to take finger impression - Under the Identification of Prisoners Act (XXXIII of 1920) a police officer taking finger impression must be - (i) an officer in charge of a police station, (ii) an officer making an investigation under Chapter XIV of the Criminal Procedure Code, (iii) and an officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector.

Note - Under this Act no court officer below the rank of Sub-Inspector is authorised to take finger prints.

D. Authority for taking finger prints, etc. - I. Under the Identification of Prisoner Act, a police officer as defined in clause (C) above can take suo motu the measurements (including finger impressions) or photographs of any person who has been:-

- (1) Convicted of offences punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term of one year or upwards or of any offence which would render him liable to enhanced punishment on a subsequent conviction.
- (2) Ordered to give security for his good behaviour under Section 118, Criminal Procedure Code.

- (3) Arrested in connection with offences punishable with rigorous imprisonment for a term of one year or upwards.

II. A magistrate of the first class can order a person's measurements (including finger prints) and photographs to be taken by a police officer for the purpose of any investigation or proceeding under the Criminal Procedure Code provided that such person has at some time been arrested in connection with such investigation or proceeding.

III. Under the Criminal Tribes Act, 1924 (Act VI of 1924) a district magistrate can order the members of a criminal tribe to be registered and to allow their finger impressions to be recorded.

Under this Act a district magistrate or any officer empowered by him in this behalf can at any time order the finger impressions of a registered member of a criminal tribe to be taken.

Note - Resistance or refusal by a person to allow the taking of measurements (including finger prints) and photographs under the Identification of Prisoners Act amounts to an offence under Section 186, Indian Penal Code, and the Act provides for the use of all means necessary to secure the taking thereof,

Section 118 of the Code of Criminal Procedure as referred to in this Rule corresponds to Section 117 of the 1973 Code, reading as follows.

“117. Order to give security - If, upon such inquiry, it is proved that it is necessary for keeping the peace or maintaining good behaviour, as the case may be, that the person in respect of whom the inquiry is made should execute a bond, with or without sureties, the Magistrate shall make an order accordingly:

Provided that-

- (a) no person shall be ordered to give security of a nature different from, or of an amount larger than, or for a period longer than, that specified in the order made under Section 111;
- (b) the amount of every bond shall be fixed with due regard to the circumstances of the case and shall not be excessive;
- (c) when the person in respect of whom the inquiry is made is a minor, the bond shall be executed only by his sureties.

118. Unidentified dead bodies.

(a) When the identity of the corpse of a person regarding whose death there is any suspicion of foul play, or who met with death in connection with the commission of an offence, has not been ascertained by ordinary enquiries, the finger prints should be taken by the court police, at the request of the investigating police on a search slip Form No. 10 (XLA) (Part II) and sent to the local bureau for search.

If any conjecture is possible -

- (1) as to the identity of the body, the finger impressions forwarded to the bureau, should, if possible, be accompanied by any documents bearing the supposed person's finger impressions that can be obtained. Such documents may often be found amongst revenue records, bonds executed for borrowing money deeds relating to the sale, transfer and mortgage of property, marriage, contracts, etc.
- (2) as to any other province to which the deceased belonged, a search slip should be sent to the bureau of that province.

Ordinarily there is not much difficulty in taking impressions from the fingers of corpse, but it sometimes happens that the skin of the fingers is so contracted and wrinkled that decipherable prints cannot be obtained. In such cases the medical officer holding the post-mortem should be asked to dissect the skin from the fingers. Impressions should then be taken as clearly as possible by padding the skin, and the pieces of skin from the ten digits should be carefully sealed up in separate phials containing spirits or wine, packed in a small box and sent to the bureau for examination together with the finger prints so taken. Each phial should bear a label showing the digit to which the dissected skin belongs. The officer sending the skins to the bureau should note as to sex and whether any conjecture could be made from the appearance, dress, etc., regarding the residence of the deceased.

(b) Photographs - In addition to the transmission of their finger prints to the various bureaux, all corpses whose identity has not been established should, whenever possible, be photographed and the photographs be sent to the Finger Print Bureau, Shillong, with the search slip, for reproduction in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette, A cabinet size photograph should be taken as in most of these cases it will probably be desirable to have a photograph of the whole body. Due care should be paid to decency in photographing corpses.

119. Search for finger prints left upon(article, etc., connected with or surrounding the scene of a crime.

(a) Cases in which search should be made for finger prints - In committing crimes culprits often inadvertently leave their finger impressions on articles of all descriptions, and it is desirable that every article which might bear such impressions, more especially glass, metal, polished wood or lacquer work should be most carefully examined by a magnifying glass. Torches abandoned by dacoits should always be examined as good finger impressions are not infrequently found on their charred surface; while upon bottle-torches such impressions are usually clear. In burglary cases finger impressions are often to be found on bamboo mattings near the points of entry or on door posts. In cases of murder immediate search should be, made for blood stained finger impressions.

(b) Articles to be sent for examination - When an impression however faint is detected, the investigating officer will ascertain whether the article in question has been touched by anyone since the occurrence. If he is satisfied that the finger print is undoubtedly that of a culprit he should take into his custody either the article or those portions of it which contain the impressions, carefully removing it in the presence of respectable witnesses after putting on it such marks as would make its subsequent identification possible, and should forward it to the Special Superintendent of Police in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department for examination by the Finger Print Bureau. If however the nature of the article is such that the removal of it or of the requisite portion is impossible a photograph of the impression after intensification, when possible, should be taken with the help of a local photographer who will be assisted by a proficient or local expert, if necessary, and then sent to the Special Superintendent of Police for examination by the bureau experts. If required, the services of an expert from the Finger Print Bureau may be requisitioned for this purpose, care being always taken in the meantime to protect the impression and the owner should be warned not to touch or move the article in question:

- (i) Study of impression with a view to help the searching expert - Finger impressions on articles should be carefully studied by investigating officers with a view to an opinion being formed if possible, as to the finger or hand to which the imprint belongs. If due attention is given to ascertaining the exact position of the article before it was handled by the offender, and also as to its position when found after the commission of the offence, it is frequently possible to form an opinion on this point. For instance, when a window has been broken and the shattered glass has been removed by the person breaking it, if the position which the glass formerly occupied is noted it would not be difficult to judge which hand removed the glass and which finger or fingers are likely to have left the imprint on it.

Similarly from the position occupied by a tumbler, bottle, plate or other article, it may be possible to form an opinion as to which hand the offender used in removing or touching,

Occasionally marks are found on article which bear a resemblance to an impression made by the bulb of a finger, but they may be from some other portion of the hand or even from part of the foot. This difficulty will arise in cases where only a single mark is found on an object and every care must be taken to determine, if possible, whether the impression is from the bulb or base of the fingers, palm of the hand, or from the ball or heel of the foot.

The opinion, if any, so formed should be communicated to the bureau as it will afford great assistance to the experts in making their classification for search. Any clue as to the exact position of one or more digits should be furnished as it will make a satisfactory search possible even though it may take a few days to complete it.

- (ii) Protection of finger prints for examination - When an article bearing an impression has a flat surface, the finger print can easily be protected by covering it with an inverted lidless cardboard box attached by gummed flaps and sealed down.

Many other ways of protecting finger prints will suggest themselves but care must be taken that adequate protection is afforded.

(c) Method of intensifying - Finger marks on glass, polished wood, metal and lacquer work may be intensified by sprinkling the surface with a small quantity of a powder known to Chemists as "grey powder" or in the case of light coloured articles of powdered graphite. The article should then be shaken or the powder brushed over it with a camel hair brush. The brush should be drawn lightly across the impressions first vertically and then horizontally until they appear quite clear and decipherable. This treatment has the effect of making visible impressions which cannot be seen with the naked eye. Articles which may have been handled by criminals should always be treated in this way if possible.

(d) Packing and forwarding of articles bearing prints - The investigating officer should always remember that while handling articles for packing or for any other purpose he is likely, to impress them with his own finger prints, as well. These therefore should not be handled unless absolutely necessary, when something with a smooth surface should be slipped underneath. The articles should be carefully lifted into the box in which they are to be packed and nothing with a rough surface should be allowed to come into contact with the portions bearing impressions. All possible precautions should be taken so that the print may not be damaged during transit.

(e) Method of despatch - In important cases, or when exhibits are very heavy or large they should be sent by a special messenger. Ordinarily the package should be sealed and sent by registered post to the Special Superintendent of Police in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department. A label should be attached to each article giving the number of the F. I. R. with date and the name of the police station and district and that of the officer forwarding the package~ and every care should be taken that the identity of the article can be proved as in the case of articles sent to the chemical examiner.

(f) Apparatus required - In order that the instructions contained in the foregoing clauses may be carried out each police station should be supplied with:

- (1) A magnifying glass for reading finger prints.
- (2) Four ounces of graphite or grey powder for sprinkling.
- (3) A camel hair brush for brushing.
- (4) A few cardboard boxes for protecting finger impressions.

NOTES

In this Rule reference has been made to Sections 400 and 401 of the Indian Penal Code.

Section 400 prescribes for punishment for the offence for belonging to gang of dacoits, being imprisonment for life, or with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to ten years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Section 401 prescribes for punishment for the offence for belonging, to gang of thieves, being rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

120. Photography of finger prints.

I. The photographic enlargement of finger print is necessary:-

- (a) for the purpose of comparison of impressions on articles by the experts of Finger Print Bureau.
- (b) for the inspection and clear understanding of the Judge and Jury in a case in which experts express an opinion which it is necessary to confirm by production in court of the photograph of the impressions on documents or articles relating to the case regarding which evidence is to be placed on record.

The enlargement should be done locally or when this is not possible the articles containing the impressions should be sent to the Finger Print Bureau for the purpose and the latter will have if done by a Photographer at headquarters. Care should always be taken that the identity of the articles containing the impressions from which the enlargement is made can be proved beyond doubt when necessary and that the article is not lost; disfigured, damaged or destroyed. The article should never therefore be parted with and an officer must always be present when the photograph is being taken, and it should be taken back immediately afterwards.

II. As an aid to police investigation also, the photographing of impressions has frequently to be resorted to, before any definite opinion can be expressed. Finger or foot prints which lend themselves best to photography are those which are impressed on glass, glazed earthenware vessels, polished metal articles, tin boxes, paper and occasionally on wood. Finger prints on the ground may be usefully photographed if the impressions are clear. Prints on rough surfaces are, as a rule, of little use. It should be distinctly understood that finger marks which do not disclose clearly defined details when viewed through a magnifying glass are generally useless when photographed. It has already been said that latent impressions can be developed with the aid of powders, but if there is any intention on the part of the investigating officer to forward an impressed article to the Finger Print Bureau for the purpose of an opinion, powder should not be used at the time of discovery, as it sometimes happens that the powder reduces the area available for comparison by obscuring some of the characteristic detail. It is often possible to obtain a satisfactory photograph without the use of powder when the detail is discernible though faint.

121. Duties of proficients and action to be taken by court police before conviction.

Duties of proficients - The proficients attached to court offices will dispose of all work in connection with the finger print system, under the direct supervision of the officer in charge thereof. Their duties are mainly as follows:

- (i) To prepare the record slips and the P. R. slips of the persons mentioned in Rule 127 in the manner required by that rule and Rule 128 and to keep the record slips ready for test.
- (ii) To test record slips in the absence of an expert as directed in Rule 131.
- (iii) To prepare and despatch search slips of accused or other persons referred to in Rule 123.
- (iv) To keep release notices as required by Rule 132.
- (v) To dispose of record slips and release notices in the manner described in Rules 130 to 132.
- (vi) To prepare all statements and returns that may be required by the Finger Print Bureau in connection with the finger print system.
- (vii) To maintain and keep the registers prescribed in the Appendix.
- (viii) To keep in good order and fit for immediate use all instruments for taking finger print.

In court offices where there are two proficients, the finger print work will be divided between them by a district order in such manner as the Superintendent of Police may deem fit. It is suggested that the touring experts be consulted in this connection. The officer-in-charge of the court police however, should neither be relieved of all responsibility with regard to finger print work nor of the duty of personally attending Jail parade on Sunday morning (vide Rule 134) nor must the specification of the proficients' duties above be construed to mean that proficients will have nothing to do except finger print work. The officer-in-charge remains responsible for the work of the "proficient" who is merely to relieve the former of actually having to do the work himself.

NOTES

In this Rule reference has been made to Sections 120-B and 121-A or the Indian Penal Code.

Section 120-B prescribes for punishment of the offence criminal conspiracy, as:

- (a) In respect of offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life or rigorous imprisonment for a term of two years or upwards, shall, where no express provision is made in this Code for the punishment of such conspiracy, be punished in the same manner as if he had abetted such offence.

- (b) Other than the above-imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months.

Criminal conspiracy is defined under Section 120-A of I. P. C. as; When two or more persons agree to do, or cause to be done, -

- (1) an illegal act, or
- (2) an act which is not illegal, by illegal means,

Such an agreement is designated a criminal conspiracy.

By terms of the definition itself, there ought to be two or more persons who must be parties to such an agreement and it is trite to say that one person alone can never be held guilty of criminal conspiracy for the simple reason that one cannot conspire with one self AIR 1956 SC 3 (Topandas), Meeting of minds is an essential ingredient of the offence, AIR 1980 SC 1382, (State v. V.C. Shukla). To constitute a single general conspiracy there must be a common design and a common intention of all to work in furtherance of the common design. Each conspirator plays its separate part in one integrated and unified effort to achieve the common object AIR 1970 SC 45 (Hussain Umar v. Dafip Singhji).

Section 121-A, deals with the offence of conspiracy to commit offences punishable under Section 121 or conspires to overawe, by means or criminal force or the show of criminal force, the Central Government or any State Government, for which the punishment prescribed is imprisonment for life or imprisonment of either description which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine. Section 121 deals with the offence of waging or attempting to wage war or abetting waging of war against the Government of India and the punishment prescribed for such an offence is death, imprisonment for life and shall also be liable to fine.

122. Examination of certificates forwarded with the charge sheets by court officers.

Whatever action may have been taken or whatever information may have been furnished by the investigating officer in the accused's forwarding report or elsewhere regarding his antecedents, court officer must carefully examine the certificate given by the former along with the charge sheet in order to be sure whether an accused is 'identified' or not.

123. Search slip references.

A. The court police will prepare and send the finger print search slips [Form No. 10, Schedule XL (A) (Part II)] of the following classes of persons sent to court after arrest as suspects or undertrial on a criminal charge, regarding whom no search reference has been made by the investigating police, to –

- (a) the Shillong Finger Print Bureau,
- (b) the bureaux of the province of which the persons are believed to be residents, and
- (c) the bureaux of the provinces where their operations are believed to extend.

Note - The court officers or the investigating police will ascertain from the language, dialect and dress of a suspect or an undertrial prisoner whether he is likely to be a resident of any particular province and whether his operations are likely to extend to any particular province or provinces and will issue his search slip accordingly. If the language, etc. spoken by a suspect or an undertrial prisoner is found to be similar to that, used in two or different provinces, search slips will be issued to the Bureaux of all such provinces. (Correction Slip No. 3, dated the 27th May, 1933).

If the refusal of the remand results in the escape of an accused from enhanced punishment or from the operations of Section 565, Criminal Procedure Code, the fact should always be noted in the remarks column of the statement of reconviction in the next half yearly return of serious crime and in important cases (e.g., where the accused is a habitual or desperate criminal) a report should also be submitted by the Superintendent of Police to the Inspector General of Police through the Special Superintendent of Police in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department after the matter has been brought to the Deputy Commissioner's notice as stated above.

Undoubtedly, a culprit first intends to commit an offence, then makes preparation for committing it and thereafter attempts to commit the offence. If the attempt succeeds, he has committed the offence; if it fails due to reasons beyond his control he is said to have attempted to commit the offence. Attempt to commit, therefore can be said to begin when the preparations are complete and the culprit commences to do something with the intention of committing the offence and which is a step towards the commission of an offence, AIR 1961 SC 1698 (Abhayand Mishra).

Both Sections 307 and 308 are expressed in similar language. An attempt to commit culpable homicide is punishable with imprisonment for a certain period and therefore but for its being expressly made an offence under Section 308, it would have fallen under Section 511, which applies to all attempts to commit offences punishable with imprisonment where no express provisions are made by the Code for punishment of that attempt. A person commit an offence under this section when he has an intention to commit culpable homicide not amounting to murder and in pursuance of that intention does an act towards the commission of that offence whether that act be the ultimate act or not, AIR 1961 SC 1782 (Om Prakash).

In a given case it was not disputed that the accused tried to trespass into the driver's cabin which was meant for the complainant's driver. While driving the bus or even while standing at the bus stand the driver was discharging his duties and if he tried to prevent the accused from committing trespass by entering into the driver's cabin he was undoubtedly acting in the due discharge of his duties as a driver of the bus belonging to the Transport Department. If despite of the attempt of the complainant to stop the accused from the driver's cabin the accused abused the complainant and gave him a kick which resulted in grievous injury, it cannot be said that this section has no application - AIR 1979 SC 1706 (Manamiya).

- (c) Desperate or habitual criminals who are foreigners to the district and not come under the foregoing clauses, if their transfer is thought fit by a Superintendent of Police.
- (d) Deleted.

The P. R. slips of these persons should be marked accordingly so that they may be transferred for release to the jail or sub-jail situated at the headquarters of the district or sub-division in which they reside or were convicted, which in each case should be mentioned in the slips with a view that necessary measures may be taken for the watching of the convicts movement on their release. Whenever, the residence of any unidentified P. R. convict is ascertained after conviction, the Superintendent of Police of the district in which the person was convicted should issue a revised P. R. T. slip to the jail to ensure the transfer of the convict to his native district for release. If however the residence of the convict is verified shortly before his release from jail and there is no time for transfer, the date and place of release should be telegraphed to the Superintendent of Police of the convict's native district to enable him to take such steps as he may consider necessary to prevent the man being lost sight of after release.

2. Jail of release of P. R. T. and ^{P. R. T.} -----prisoners

If the labourer is convicted in the district or sub-division from the jail or sub-jail, respectively, of which he is to be released he should be made P. R. and not P. R. T.
- (d) P. R. T. convicts who have left their native districts and have become permanently domiciled, in some other district, should be transferred (if the district of conviction is different from the district of domicile) for release to the jail or sub-jail of the district of domicile and not to those of the district of original residence. If however a man is convicted in the district or sub-division from the jail of which he is to be released on account of his permanent domicile he should be made P. R. and not P.R.T.

If any convict who is to be made P. R. for his local release under this and the foregoing clause has been first made a P. R. T. a revised P. R. slip may be issued when necessary.

- (i) Should any such prisoner become subsequently fit for transfer before the date of release, he will be at once transferred but if, when only a fortnight remains, he is still unfit, a note of the fact will be made in the release notices which are made over bi-monthly to the Superintendents of Police. If obliged, through illness, to remain in jail up to the date of his release, the prisoner should be released at the jail gate, timely notice being given in writing to - the local police, as well as to the police of the district to which the prisoner would have been transferred, had he not been unfit.

The ordinary method of preparation and testing of slips will not be applicable in these cases and a note should be made of it by the officers concerned on the slips. If the Superintendent of Police does not pass orders declaring the prisoners P. R. the slips should be destroyed.

Note - In case the prisoner is transferred to another jail in the same district the correspondence regarding P. R. should be made directly with the court officer concerned.

130. Preparation and despatch of record slips to the bureau.

C., but are not proved for any reason should also always find entry in the record slip. After preparation of the slip the officer will put his signature in full at the bottom of certificate No.1 which is a guarantee for the correctness of the convictions and other details.

NOTES

Section 565 of the old Code correspond to Section 356 of the 1973 Code-for text see under Rule 124.

After having prepared as many record slips as are required under the rules, the proficient or expert will note the words "F. I. taken with his initial and date",

- (i) on the back of the P. R. slip;
- (ii) against the prisoner's name in the jail admission register; and
- (iii) on the history ticket.

(b) Note on the top of the record slip - (i) of "Identified" or "Unidentified" convicts:-

When the convict is identified the word "Identified" and when he remains unidentified, the word "Unidentified" must be stamped in red ink on the top of the record slip on the side containing the prints,

- (ii) of female convicts:-

The impressions of a female convict should be taken before a gazetted officer, preferably the trying court, if possible. If the impressions are to be taken in the jail the expert or proficient should go to the female enclosure in company with the jailor and there take the prints in the presence of the female warder, the female convict overseer (where such exists) or the female companion, if any, in charge. The word "female" should be noted on the slip as above.

Note. - In testing a female's slip also the above procedure should be followed.

(iii) of "Reconvicted prisoners":-

On the reconviction of a P. R. prisoner, as many fresh record slips as are required by the rules will be prepared and the word "Reconvicted" stamped on each copy in red ink on the side which contains the prints. Care should be taken that all previous convictions are entered chronologically.

(c) Number of record and P. R. slips to be prepared - (i) Ordinarily one record slip and one P. R. slip will be prepared for each P. R. convict. In the cases however, where the record slips are also to be submitted to the bureaux of other provinces as laid down in the sub-clause below, one extra slip is to be prepared for each bureau.

(ii) Record slips after being tested should be submitted to the bureau or bureaux by the court police of the district of conviction before release as follows:-

(1) to the Finger Print Bureau, Shillong;

(2) to the Bureaux of the province of which the persons are or are alleged to be residents ;

(3) to the Bureaux of the provinces where their operations are known or believed to extend, the name of the several bureaux where the slip has been sent for record, being noted in each copy of the finger print slip.

The record slips must be submitted to the Finger Print Bureau before the release of the prisoner from jail, but after the time of appeal is over or the appeal, if any, has been decided. In case the order of a court of appeal or revision setting aside or altering a sentence is received after the submission of the record slip to the bureau or bureaux the fact should at once be communicated to the bureaux concerned for the necessary correction of the slip.

(d) Record slips returned as unfit for record - If a record slip is returned by the bureau as unfit for record, the Superintendent will without delay have the slip completed, corrected, or a fresh slip prepared, and will take suitable notice of the carelessness on the part of the "proficient" or "expert" in sending an incomplete or incorrect slip to the bureau. Such negligence must on no account be overlooked.

131. Testing of record slips.

A. Slips pending test to be kept in open files. - All finger print slips taken for record in the bureau will be kept by the court officer in open files arranged according to the dates of release pending test which must be done by an expert deputed from the Finger Print Bureau 'or in case of emergency by a local expert or proficient before despatch to the Finger Print Bureau. The record slips of prisoners who have been transferred to other jails before their slips have been tested should be sent to the court officer if the transfer was to another jail within the same district, or to the Superintendent of Police if the prisoner was transferred to another district. These slips will be placed by the court officer in his "pending test" file and after test and expiry of the appeal time be returned to the Superintendent of Police of the district of conviction for transmission to the Finger Print Bureau as required by the rules.

B. Method of testing the slips. - (1) The test should take place in the jail when the prisoner is sentenced to imprisonment and the testing officer should satisfy himself at the outset that the prints are those of the convicts named in the slips.

(2) The plain impressions should invariably be compared with the rolled impressions with a view to seeing if the latter have been taken in their proper sequence.

(3) All the rolled impressions should be examined to ascertain if the complete contour of the bulbs of the fingers has been impressed.

(4) The following points in impressions should be examined:-

(a) In case of loops

- (i) The delta by bifurcation or by divergence;
 - (ii) Ridges from the core to the delta for ridge, counting;
 - (iii) Ridge characteristics, if any.
- (b) In case of whorls -
- (i) The two deltas on two sides and cores;
 - (ii) The edges from one delta to another for ridge tracing;
 - (iii) Ridge characteristics, if any.
- (c) In central pocket loops - Whether cores and deltas have clearly been impressed.
- (d) In lateral pockets and twinned loops whether their central ridges and deltas have been clearly impressed so that their differentiation may be ascertained.
- (e) In case of arch - whether the impression is sufficiently clear to enable the bureau to trace curving ridges from one side to another.
- (f) In case of tented arch whether the ridges near the middle and the adjoining ridges are distinctly impressed for examining recurring ridge on either side of the axis.

When the testing officer has satisfied himself as regards all these particulars, he should write his name against the entry "impressions tested by". After examining the name, parentage, residence, etc., of the subject, he should go through the convictions noted on the slip and see whether they have been entered in accordance with the entries on the warrant of commitment and High Court Criminal Form No. 38. When fully satisfied with the correctness of all these entries, he will put his signature in full at the bottom of Certificate No. 2 of the record slip [Form No. 128 of Schedule XL(A) (Part I)].

The testing officer should also see whether the required number of slips have been taken. Any mistake should be brought to the notice of the Superintendent of Police for necessary action. Record slips of which the prints are blurred or indistinct should be replaced by fresh slips prepared by the expert or proficient. After having tested the slips the expert or proficient will note the word "tested" with his initials and date -

- (i) on the back of the P. R. slip,
- (ii) against the prisoner's name in the jail admission register, and
- (iii) on the history ticket.

C - Procedure to be followed on the visit of a touring expert - When an expert from the bureau visit a district for inspection the court officer will send a list of the convicts whose slips are to be tested by the expert to the jailor who will thereupon keep the convicts ready along with the P. R. slips, history tickets, warrants and other connected papers for the expert's inspection.

When an expert visit a district or sub-divisional jail on a day other than Sunday (jail parade day) he will obtain orders from the Superintendent of the Jail for admission therein.

D - Testing of record slips of prisoners likely to be released before visit of touring expert - Besides the testing of slips of the prisoners quickly passing out of custody as in clause A, pending record slips should be tested by the local proficient or experts when the prisoners are likely to be transferred to jails of other districts or to be released before the next visit of the touring expert from the bureau.

132. Issue of P. R. Slips.

(i) As soon as the Superintendent of Police has passed P. R. or P. R. T. orders regarding a convict on the final memorandum of the case, a P. R. slip should be prepared in Form No. 133 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I) by the court police and sent to the jail where a convict is confined, to be attached to the prisoner's warrant of commitment. Duplicate P. R. slips shall be issued in the case of persons convicted of offences under Sections 395, 396, 397, 399, 400, 401, 402 and 412, Indian Penal Code, and other inter-district and inter-provincial habitual criminal who are likely to revert crime after release, one being marked in red ink for the Criminal Investigation Department.

After the appropriate columns have been filled in by the jail authorities, these slips will serve as the notices of release from the jail. In cases in which a P. R. slip is prepared, but the convict is not sent to the jail the slip should be filed at once in the court office. The annual serial number and year of issue of the P. R. slip should be noted in column 15 of the court conviction register.

(ii) On the 1st and 16th of every month court officers will send to the local jail (district and sub-divisional) for the release notices of convicts to be released during the following half month, and a list of prisoners who have died during the preceding half month.

In the case of a convict against whom an order under Section 565, Criminal Procedure Code has been passed, the Superintendent of the transferring jail, after filling up the particulars of the, proposed residences the date on which the convict is to be released with the name for the Jail of release in the P. R. T. slip will send it together with the statement of the convict under [Section 565, Criminal Procedure Code]¹ to the Superintendent of the receiving jail, at least six weeks before the date fixed for his release. The Superintendent of the Jail from which the convict is to be released shall immediately forward it to the Superintendent of Police of the district where the prisoner will be released for necessary action.

(iii) When a P. R. prisoner is released before the expiry of his sentence, and there has been no time to include his name in the fortnightly return, a notice of his release should at once be sent to the Superintendent of Police by the Superintendent of jail in which the prisoner is confined. Release notices of convicts about to be released will be sent to the Superintendent of Police of the district in which the prisoners were convicted, a record being kept in the counterfoil in case they are P. R. slips.

(iv) Delay on the part of jail authorities in carrying out the above orders will invariably be brought to the notice of the Superintendent of Police who will, if necessary, report the matter to the Inspector General of Police for action.

(v) On receipt of a release notice from the district jail or from a sub-divisional court office, the headquarters court officer will check it with Part IV of the jail parade report (vide Rule 134) and enter it in the release notice register under a consecutive serial number. Release notice registers not being kept up at sub-divisions, sub-divisional court officers will forward the notices to the headquarter court officer for necessary action. After the release notice has been entered in the register it will be issued to the police station within which the convict resides, with orders to the officer-in-charge to report a week after the expiry of the prisoner's sentence whether he has returned home or out. Before however, issuing the release notices to tile police stations, those of railway and river criminals should "be copied and copies forwarded to the Superintendents of Railway and River Police concerned. On their return from the thanas, the notices should be filed in monthly bundies, and in case of P. R. slips they should be pasted to the counterfoils.

(vi) In every P. R. slip book there will be two blank pages, which will be divided into twenty parts for showing twenty different years of release.

(vii) On the issue of a P. R. slip to the jail, the number of the slip should be noted in the blank pages of the P. R. slip book against the year in which the convict is to be released. At the end of each year the slips for the period should be separated and separately filled year by year. When a new book is opened at the commencement of the year, the counterfoil of the P. R. slips of the convicts who are to be released during the year should be stitched into the book.

(viii) The P. R. slips (both the foils) should be divided into two classes, viz., (a) of ordinary convicts and (b) of convicts against whom an order under Section 565, Criminal Procedure Code, has been passed. The former will be destroyed one year after release of the man from jail, and the letter five years after release.

NOTES

¹ Correction Slip No. 25, dated 19-3-37

Section 565 of the old Code corresponds to Section 356 of the New Code-for full text see under Rule 124.

(ix) Superintendent of jails, shall, not later than the first week of each month, send to the Special Superintendent of Police, in charge of the Criminal Investigation Department, direct, after filling in the release portions, the duplicate P. R. slips issued under clause (i) of the rule who are due for release in the following month.

On receipt of the intimation the Criminal Investigation Department will arrange for photographing, before their release, all convicts whose criminality extends beyond their native districts and shall prepare and publish in the Criminal Intelligence Gazette illustrated release notices, reproducing their photographs and containing a brief history of their career and antecedents.

133. Despatch cheque to accompany P. R. slips and record slips.

- (1) In transmitting P. R. slips to the Superintendent of Jailor Police of any district for action or in sending the record slips to any Finger Print Bureau for record or the Superintendent of Police of any district or any court officer for testing, despatch cheques [Form No. 126 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I)] should be used and the slips should be accompanied by the middle and outer foils thereof.
- (2) The outer foil should be returned as an acknowledgment of receipt of the slips and the middle foil retained by the receiving officer and filed in yearly bundles according to the consecutive number of the cheques.
- (3) At the time of sending the record slips to the bureax the number of the cheque together with the date of its despatch and the names of the bureax where the slips have been sent for record should be noted in Column 15 of the court conviction register in red ink.
- (4) On receipt of the outer foil in a court office from the Finger Print Bureau the classification number of the slips noted by the bureau should be correctly copied into Column 15 of the court conviction register against the name of the convict concerned in red ink.

134. Jail parade as a check on P. R. and F. P. system.

(a) A jail parade will be held every Sunday morning at all sub-divisional and district jails. It should be conducted by the court officer himself, or in his absence by such officer as the Superintendent of Police selects who will be assisted by as many of the court staff as he requires. All officers should be present at the jail punctually at 7.30 a.m. The district jail parade should be supervised at least once a month by a gazetted police officer, and all officers and constables stationed at headquarters, not exceeding seven in all at one time, should attend the parade in rotation so as to commit to memory the faces of as many prisoners as possible.

(b) An Assistant Sub-Inspector will be told off to the jail at 2 p.m, every Saturday to fill in Columns 1 to 5 of the Jail parade report [Form No. 130 of Schedule XL (A) (Part I). He should collect the P. R. slips, history, tickets, warrants, and other connected papers of each prisoner to be parade on the following day and arrange them in the order in which the prisoners' names appear in the jail parade report. He will particularly see that the names of all prisoners liable to be made P. R. and admitted to the jail up to the preceding Friday are entered in the jail parade report.

(c) As soon as all the prisoners to be paraded have been assembled on Sunday morning the court officer will fill in the columns of the jail parade form, the jail admission register, the jail release diary, the file of jail warrants and other connected papers which should include the release; notice and the prisoners' history ticket.

(d) In case of a prisoner marked P. R. the number of the P. R. slip should be noted under the P. R. entry in Column 4 of the jail parade report.

(e) The court officer should see that the entries in the jail admission register and history tickets tally with those on the back of the release notices, and should enter from the latter, in the jail parade report any information not contained in the above register.

(f) In case of a prisoner admitted by transfer it should be seen if a P. R. slip has been received if the man is liable to be made P. R. If no slip has been received or if any P. R. or P. R. T. convict has not had his finger prints taken or tested the court officer should at once report the fact to the Superintendent of Police who will refer the matter to the Superintendent of Police of the district of conviction. If the prisoner was transferred from another jail within the same district the court officer of the place of conviction should be referred to district. In case of impending release the court officer should, however, before making the reference prepare as many finger print slips of the mail as are required for record under the rules. If his finger print slips have already been prepared by the district of conviction these may be destroyed.

(g) In case of prisoners transferred to other jails, the court officer should see that the P. R. prisoners not made P. R. before transfer, and of P. R. prisoners whose finger prints have not been taken or are awaiting test, are at once transmitted to the authorities concerned.

(h) As a check on the due receipt from the jail of release notices for transmission to the police stations, the number and date of receipt of the release notices should invariably be noted against all impending releases in Column 9 of the jail Parade Form, Part IV.

(i) The jail parade report should be put up before the Superintendent of Police, if possible, on the following Monday morning so that necessary orders may be passed early in the week to allow of ample time for their execution before the next report falls due. As soon as all orders passed have been carried out the jail parade report should again be put up before the Superintendent of Police who will compare the entries in Columns 7 and 9 of the report and satisfy himself that all action has been taken. Thereupon, the report should be filed in the Superintendent of Police's office.

(j) Besides giving a chance to police officers to make themselves familiar with the appearance of known criminals the object of the jail parade is to enable the Superintendent of Police to know what prisoners have been newly admitted into jail, thus affording him an opportunity of correcting any omission in regard to habituals and others who might have escaped being made P. R.

Note. - Sub-classification of "Accidentals" in which more than 2 deltas occur:-

"In tracing the ridge in "W by L" the deltas of the "Whorl" are to be taken while the delta of the "Loop" is to be ignored. In "L by W" the Central and Right deltas are to be taken while the Left delta of the "Whorl" is to be ignored. In "W by W" the deltas of the "Whorl" at the centre are to be taken."

Classification and sub-classification of damaged or missing fingers:-

"When the same digits of both hands are missing. they should be classified as "Whorl" and sub-classified as 'I's. If only one finger is missing, it should be classified and sub-classified according to the corresponding finger of the other hand.

Combinations of A (arches) falling in both Index fingers will be arranged in the following order.

(1) A, (2) aA, (3) Aa, (4) A-a, (5) A - - a, (6) aAa, (7) aA - a, (8) aA - - a, (9) A2a, (10) Aa - a, (11) A - 2a, (12) aA2a, (13) aAa - a, (14) aA - 2a (15) A3a, (16) aA3a.

(1) Index, (2) Thumb and Index, (3) Index and Middle, (4) Index - Ring. (5) Index - - Little, (6) Thumb Index - Middle, (7) Thumb Index - Ring, (8) Thumb Index - Little, (9) Index Middle and Ring, (10) Index - Middle - Little, (11) Index - Ring Little, (12) Thumb Index Middle Ring, (13) Thumb Index Middle - Little, (14) Thumb Index - Ring Little, (15) Index Middle Ring Little, (16) Thumb Index Middle Ring Little.

Groups of t and r falling in any fingers except Index will be placed immediately after their a groups.

The other combinations of T, R, U, and W will also be arranged in the same order.

Method of Sub-classification

Whorls - I, M, O, according the ridge tracing.

Loops - I, O, viz. - Thumb - up to 18 ridges - 1 and upwards O.

Index finger - up to 9 ridges - I and upward O.

Middle and Ring fingers - up to 10 ridge - I and upwards O.

Thus there will be the following divisions of records and the slips will be arranged in the order noted below ;-

In both numerators and denominators

- 1. L = I, O.
- 2. L = II, IO, OI, OO.
- 3. L = III, IIO, IOI, IOO, OII, OIO, OOI, OOO
- 1. W = I, M, O.
- 2. W = II, IM, IO, MI, MM, MO, OI, OM, OO.
- 3. W = III, IIM, IIO, IMI, IMM, IMO, IOI, IOM, IOO, MII, MIM MIO, MMI, MMM, MMO, MOI, MOM, MOO, OII, OIM, OIO, OMI, OMM, OMO, OOI, OOM, OOO

LW = II, IW, IO, OI, OMM, OO.

WL = II, IO, MI, MO, OI, OO.

LLW = III, IIM, IIO, IOI, IOM, IOO, OII, OIM, OIO, OOI, OOM, OOO.

Either in numerators or denominators

- 1. Ridge counting of loops or ridge tracing of whorls (as the case may be) in the Index fingers.
- 2. Ridge counting of loops or ridge tracing of whorls (as the case may be) in the Index and Middle fingers.
- 3. Ridge counting of loops or ridge tracing of whorls (as the case may be) in the Index, Middle and ring fingers.

T3 Ridge counting of loops in the Thumb, Index and Middle fingers.

Note. - Fingers of right hand will be taken in numerators while those of left hand in denominators.

- 1. At the right-hand side of the fraction = ridge counting of loops or ridge tracing of whorls (as the case may be) in the right little finger.
- 2. At the right-hand side of the fraction = the first finger as above and second finger will be the ridge counting of either of the following (if loops) taken in the following order of precedence.

If however Ring fingers have been taken in the sub-classification already - the ridge counting of the next loop finger according to the above order of precedence will be taken.

Ridge counting or tracing (as the case may be) will be noted on all fingers which are taken in sub-classification except in 1 ridge counting of all loops will be noted.

Sub-classifications of combinations

1 A T 2 Ridge counting of right Middle and Ring fingers
 ---, ----, ----- = ----1 = -----x
 1 A, T 2 Ridge counting of left Middle and Ring fingers
 Counting of right Little finger.

1 R U 2 Ridge counting of right Index and Middle fingers
 ---, ---, --- = --- 1 = -----x
 1 A , T 2 Ridge counting of left Middle fingers

1 A T 1 Ridge counting of right Middle finger
 ---, ---, --- = --- 1 = -----x
 1 R , U 2 Ridge counting of left Index and Middle fingers
 counting of right Little finger.

9 9 A T I Ridge counting of right Middle finger
 ---, ---, ---, --- = --- I = -----x counting
 1 2 A T I Ridge counting of left Middle finger of right Little finger.

9 9 R U 2 Ridge counting of right Index and Middle fingers
 ---, ---, --- = --- I = -----x
 1 2 A T I Ridge counting of left Middle finger
 counting of right Little finger.

9 9 A T I Ridge counting of right Middle finger
 ---, ---, ---, --- = --- I = -----x
 counting of right Little finger.

Lettered combinations of $\frac{I}{I}, \frac{9}{I}, \frac{9}{I}$ will be arranged by ridge counting in the right Little finger, if it is loop otherwise of right Thumb in case it is loop; failing both these to be loops not further sub-division will be made.

In all other pigeon holes in which sub-classifications have been made the slips of $\frac{A, T, R, U}{A}$, $\frac{A, T, R, U}{T}$, $\frac{A, T}{R}$, $\frac{A, T}{U}$ and of only A or T whether in numerator or denominator (without lettered combinations) will be arranged by ridge counting in the right Little finger if it is loop.

Explanation - The numerals are the page numbers of the court officer's alphabetical index register; the asterisks show the position in this register of the names given as examples.

The name Lachman will be found at page 344.

A number of pages are allotted in the register to each initial letter group, and this space is further divided so as to provide room for each of the groups of consonants terminating the first syllable of the name. If 66 pages are allotted to initial letter group (B. Bh), these 66 pages are thus subdivided; initial letter group (B. Bh), terminal consonant of first syllable (B, Bh), 4 pages. Initial letter group (B, Bh) ; terminal consonant of first syllable (Ch. Chh) 4 pages, initial letter group (B.Bh); terminal consonant of first syllable (D. Dh), 6 pages, and so on.

The process of search for names may be thus illustrated. Abdul: first letter is a vowel, so reference must be made to the vowel group; and to the subdivision (B. Bh), of the group as the terminal consonant of first syllable of the name is b.

Dukhi - Reference is first made to the (D. Dh) group and then to the (K. Kh) subdivision, as kh is the terminal consonant of the first syllable of name.
Hari - Reference is first made to the H group and then to the (R. Rh) subdivision, as r is the terminal consonant of the first syllable of name.
